'BRINGING LOVE' BEATS RACISM

Home Sharing Difficult, Workable

By JIM BREWER

(Second of two articles)

It takes deep determination for a black family to cross the invisible barrier into an all-white suburban neighborhood for the first time. And to be successful, it takes patience, sincerity and a little luck.

That was the consensus of two black housewives who with their families have crossed that barrier into Marin, determined to prove to themselves and their new neighbors that "bringing love, draws love in return."

For the families of Mr. and Mrs. Thoedore R. Jones, Mrs. Gertrude Lewis and their new neighbors, the proof came in stages. They were two of five black families who have visited Marin on a trial basis, thanks to the home-sharing project undertaken by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifford of San Rafael four years ago.

Although experiences in Marin for the two black families differ, they both agree that exposure to each other of blacks and whites will best disolve racial barriers. For Mrs. Lewis, an articulate teacher and graduate of Columbia University, the visits provided experimental enjoyment.

But to the Jones family, who were determined to make a permanent happy home in a Marin subdivision, each day brought with it pressing problems and important decisions.

For the Jones family, moving to Marin was not its first experience in an integrated community. But when they decided to build in Marinwood in 1965, they took advantage of the home-sharing project to "break in the neighbors."

They spent two weeks at the home of Herbert Mooney at 596 Miller Creek Road in Marinwood and while they were there, they used the Mooney's community center membership card. Just to be sure, they paid weekly visits to their new home at 471 Blackstone Drive during its construction the following spring.

Today, Jones, a bread salesman, is treasurer of the Dixie School District coordinating council, and the family's oldest child, Craig, 12, is president of his summer school class.

It wasn't always that way, however, "We had to wait things out and let things come to us," said Mrs. Jones, a civil rights organizer in her spare time.

She recalled that on Craig's

U.S. Red Ink Deeper Than Prophesied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top government officials reported today the budget deficit in the fiscal year that closed June 30 was $25.4 billion—$5.6 billion above the administration's estimate in January and $3.1 billion above the revised estimate of March 31.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Charles J Zwick, director of the Bureau of the Budget, said in a statement that congressional delays in enacting the 10 per cent income tax surcharge were partly responsible.

Receipts fell $2.3 billion short of what had been estimated in January because the surcharge did not go onto the books in time to bring in the revenue anticipated, they said.

Spending was $3.3 billion higher than estimated in January, they said. They noted, however, this was only $800 million "above the budget estimate adjusted for the Vietnam increase 100,000 Red Troops Set For Viet Drive?

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnam has massed 100,000 men in the five northern provinces of South Vietnam for an offensive that could come in August, top U.S. and South Vietnamese commanders warned today. The report coincided with increased Communist activity in the area.

The U.S. command today disclosed two Communist ambushes in the northern war zone —I Corps —that cost American Marines and 1st Air Cavalrymen a total of 24 men killed and 65 wounded at little cost to the enemy. There was a flurry of other firefights and a Communist attempt to infiltrate Hue.

One of the Communist drives is expected from the Cambodian border region northwest of Saigon, and B52s hit the area with 1,500 tons of bombs in a series of raids yesterday and today. The area has been heavily bombed for weeks.

The air war resumed its intensity against the North and U.S. fliers hit targets in the southern panhandle with 114 missions yesterday. A U.S. Navy Pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Guy Cane, 38, of New York City, shot down a MIG17 in a classic dogfight involving four MIGs and four F8A Intruders near Vinh. The U.S. planes were from the carrier Bon Homme Richard.

Lt. Gen. Henry W. Buse, commander of all Marines in the Pacific, told UPI correspondent Ray Wilkinson in Da Nang, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong may try a nationwide offensive in search of the elusive victory they have sought to bolster their position at the Paris talks.

"I think they are getting ready to give us a good whack, or at least to try and give us a good whack," Buse said. "There are indications the Communists will try a countrywide offensive in August. The Communists would very much like to do something to Da Nang, but I

Rusk Claims Bombing Cuts Up To Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the United States cannot further curtail bombing in North Vietnam until that country makes a "realistic response" to U.S. moves for peace.

At a news conference Rusk declared, "we need something better than a blank wall" before further progress can be made.

Rusk denied reports that North Vietnam has been displaying restraint.

He said the United States and its allies must know from some responsible source in North Vietnam — either directly or indirectly—what would happen if the United States were to halt the remainder of the bombing of North Vietnam.

He said it is known that about

Amateur Bandit Soon Captured

OAKLAND (UPI)—A shipping clerk succeeded briefly yesterday in a $8,500 holdup of a Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Oakland.

John J. Hillinski, 33, walked into the bank, according to police, and told a teller he wanted to make a "large withdrawal." When she asked for his passbook he said, "You're a funny lady. I've got a gun and I'll use it. Give me all the money you have, starting with the 100s and 50s."

Hillinski was picked up without a struggle by a police officer shortly after the robbery.

Span Board Expansion Bill Passes To Reagan

Vote Is Unanimous; Bid Curbs Included

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — A bill to radically alter the composition of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board of directors and to impose strict fiscal controls on the district today won final legislative approval in a 56-0 vote on the Assembly floor.

The vote sent the bill to Gov. Ronald Reagan for his signature, and will be effective on the 61st day after the final adjournment of the legislature — thus, probably by the end of October.

The author of the bill (AB 855), Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said he did not expect the governor to veto it.

Today's Assembly vote concurred in amendments to the bill in the Senate, which voted 37-0 Friday to pass it.

The bridge board strongly opposed the bill, but the board's traditional protector, Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, joined in the Senate vote Friday to pass the bill.

NO OPPOSITION

The assembly voted after only a brief statement by Bagley, and no opposition was voiced. "The public has lost all confidence in this district," Bagley said, "and this bill will help restore some confidence in the district."

After the vote, Bagley told the Independent-Journal that the bill overcame 10 years of resistance by the district to all legislation affecting it. In the past, he noted, such legislation always was killed by the Senate Transportation Committee, chaired by Collier.

NEW DIRECTORS

The bill will add four directors to the 14-member board, two from San Francisco, one from Marin and one from Sonoma County. The additions will mean that San Francisco will have nine directors, Marin and Sonoma each will have three, and Del Norte, Mendocino and Napa Counties each will have one.

Bagley also provided that the Marin and Sonoma representatives include one supervisor, one city councilman and one member from the public. At present, all directors are members of the public appointed

FOR BUILDINGS ONLY

Tam Board Trims Nov. 5 Bond Goal

The Tamalpais High School District board tentatively agreed last night to ask voters to approve an $11.5 million bond issue in November for construction of new high schools in Tiburon and San Geronimo and for lesser construction at three existing high schools.

The board and a citizens' committee on bonds wrestled for two and a half hours with the problem of offering a bond issue that would finance the new schools and at the same time would be palatable to voters who have already turned down two bond issues for new construction.

The last bond election in the district was in October, when a $12.3 million proposal encompassing substantially the same projects as the new one failed to get the required two-thirds approval. It got 10,432 yes votes to 7,016 no.

The board last night decided the voters would be asked only for construction money via bonds. Nonconstructional items such as furniture, equipment, instructional materials and contingency expenditures are to come from district reserve funds.

The breakdown on the $11.5 million: $4.2 million for a San Geronimo high school; $6.1 million for a Tiburon high school; $1 million for Tamalpais High School fine arts building; $100,000 for enclosing the student center at Redwood High School and $200,000 for a multi-purpose center and large lecture room at Drake High School.

The board tentativel planned to set aside $1.4 million in reserve funds, $1 million from a special reserve fund for supplementing bond issue moneys and $400,000 from its operating reserve.

John Cutler of Mill Valley, member of the citizens committee, urged the board to pour more reserve funds into the construction in order to lower the bond issue and help its chances at the polls.

The district's operating reserve this fiscal year is approximately $1.9 million, almost double what the board had budgeted. The disparity, according to district business director Frank A. Cassou, resulted from unexpected revenues from land sales in the district and collection of delin-

Preston's Execution Ordered

A death sentence for Kenneth A. Preston, 20, was pronounced yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the Jan. 12 slaying of a Santa Venetia couple in their mobile home.

The action by Judge Joseph G. Wilson followed the vote of a jury June 29 that Preston must die for his part in the killing of Curtis and Shirley Ackley, and came after the magistrate denied Preston's motion for a new trial and a reduction of the penalty from death to life in prison.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, who argued against the new trial and penalty reduction, said later that Preston will go directly to San Quentin's Death Row. The prisoner remained in County Jail this morning. Jailers said it was not yet known when Preston would be moved.

Grounds for Preston's new trial request, made by attorney Edwin Verzyl of Sacramento, included arguments of insufficient evidence to sustain the jury's guilty verdict, that Preston's mental facilities were diminishing at the time of the murder, and that Bales' closing argument was not factual.

Judge Wilson said he found "no record that would justify the court starting all over again" by granting a new trial. In pronouncing sentence, he asked if Preston had any statement to make.

"None," replied Preston.

Bales said later the state Supreme Court, and the governor all have authority to reduce the penalty to life imprisonment. The Supreme Court can also set aside the guilty verdict and order a new trial, when it receives Preston's automatic appeal.

Preston and Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24, both of Santa Rosa, were accused of killing the couple in their trailer house. The couple had been shot, strangled and stabbed. Mrs. Ackley had been raped.

Sommerhalder still faces trial the week of Aug. 12 in Marin County for the murders.

State Ties U.S. Hands On Island

The state department of Parks and Recreation has said the Army would have to condemn Angel Island to build an anti-missile facility on it.

State Resources Director Norman B. Livermore Jr., in response to an inquiry from Marin Supervisor Peter H. Behr, said in a letter today that the Army was granted permission by the parks and recreation department recently to survey the island for a missile and communications site.

NO DRILLING

Livermore said the permit stipulated, however, that the Army could not conduct any drilling or grading. If the Army wished to do so, it would have to go to court and condemn the island, according to Livermore's letter.

Livermore said the department of parks and recreation was opposed to Army plans to use the entire center of the island, including Mount Livermore, for a Sentinel antimissile base.

Sausalito and Mill Valley officials have gone on record against any missile base in Southern Marin. The Army said it is considering sites on Angel Island, Wolfback Ridge above Sausalito, and in Contra Costa County.

BRIEFING NOTICE

In another development today, Ernest N. Kettenhofen, chairman of the board of supervisors, announced that an officer from the Army Air Defense Command had requested supervisors and members of the county planning commission to attend a briefing on the Sentinel system at 9 a.m. Friday in the Civic Center.

Kettenhofen said that the officer had requested the meeting be closed to the public.

Major Betty Benedict, Army information officer at Fort Baker, announced earlier today, however, that the briefing for Marin officials would be in the nature of a press conference "identical to the first one" previously held in the San Francisco offices of Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Czech-Russ Military Talk Heightens Prague Tension

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet military movements and a report that a Czechoslovak general opposed to Czechoslovakia's liberalization course had met with Russian staff officers drew attention as the Communist leaders of Prague and Moscow held the second meeting of their showdown conference today.

Informed sources in Warsaw said substantial Soviet combat and supply equipment had been seen on the move in Poland since Sunday, some headed south in the direction of Czechoslovakia

As the summit meeting of the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak presidium dragged on at Cierna, the Prague trade union newspaper Prace said Gen. Samuel Kodaj, who warned early this month against "counter-revolutionary tendencies," had met yesterday at the Slovak town of Strecno, 150 miles northwest of Cierna, with the "Soviet army staff which is operating on our territory, presumably part of Warsaw Pact forces that still have not left following maneuvers last month.

'BLACK RAGE'

Doctors Stress Antiracism Need

LOS ANGELES (AP) — To avoid race riots whites must engage in antiracism with as much conviction as some Americans engage in anti-Communist crusades, says a University of California psychiatrist.

Dr. Price Cobbs said in an interview whites "must ask themsevles questions like: Are there any blacks in my neighborhood, my church, my place of business, my union?

"They must make racism-reducing activities as important as anti-Red activities."

Cobbs, assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at U.C. San Francisco Medical Center, and Dr. William H. Grier, also a U.C. psychiatrist, have written a book, "Black Rage," in which they analyze the psychological effects of being black in a white man's culture. Both are Negroes.

All blacks in America are angry, sometimes without being aware of it, and some are enraged by the shame that they have been forced to feel because they are black, Cobbs told the Los Angeles Times' medical editor, Harry Nelson.

"Daily we talk to apparently complacent patients who have anger which is far deeper than the anger shown overtly by some blacks who have the reputation of being angry young men," Cobbs said.

IKE SEEKING BIPARTISAN STAND ON VIET ISSUE

Chicago Armed Camp Prepared; Poll Says Reagan Lags Humphrey

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower urged the Republicans today to adopt a bipartisan stand on Vietnam "to make clear to Hanoi America's patient determination to obtain security for the South Vietnamese."

In a statement prepared for GOP platform writers, the former president also warned against accepting a "camouflaged" surrender at the Paris peace talks. Eisenhower, the only Republican president in the last 30 years, wrote the statement at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington where he is recuperating from a heart attack.

There has been some bickering in the temporary resolutions committee over just how far the GOP National Convention should go in criticizing administration policy in Vietnam. Some members have threatened an open battle unless the platform writers take a tough stand.

HUMPHREY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the United States' nuclear missile lead over the Soviet Union has been "very much closed" since the missile crisis over Cuba in 1962.

The vice president warned against a continuing arms race in an interview on the National Education Television Network yesterday.

"At the time of the Cuban missile crisis, we had massive nuclear power over and beyond what the Soviet Union had. That gap has, believe me, been very much closed, and we are now talking to the Soviet Union that has made tremendous efforts to close that gap," the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said.

Humphrey waited for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's reaction to his proposal to release all delegates bound by the unit rule in order to "obtain a truly open convention." Some states use the rule, which binds everybody in a state delegation to vote for the majority's favorite.

Some McCarthy supporters assert that Humphrey forces have locked up the convention machinery through maneuvering in the smoke-filled rooms.

In an obvious counterattack, Humphrey said yesterday, "it is my personal view that the presidential nomination of the Democratic party this year must be won in a completely open convention. Each delegate should be able to stand up and be counted as an individual casting his vote for his preference."

CONVENTION

CHICAGO (AP) — Fifteen thousand soldiers, police and federal agents will turn the site of the Democratic National Convention into an armed camp next month in a giant security operation.

The security arrangements could turn the convention—normally a horn-blowing spectacular—into an austere exercise in martial order.

Racial tensions in the city and the crowds of demonstrators and hippies who plan to come to Chicago will compound the job of keeping order and protecting President Johnson and the candidates.

Deployed round-the-clock at Chicago International Amphitheatre, and at hotels and motels housing delegates, will be some 8,000 uniformed and undercover policemen, 5,500 riot-trained National Guardsmen and at least 1,000 federal agents.

MONITOR POLL

BOSTON (AP)—If the presidential election were held now, and Hubert H. Humphrey faced Ronald Reagan, the vice president would easily defeat California's Republican governor, The Christian Science Monitor said today.

The newspaper said in a dispatch from its Washington office that a poll of its political writers indicated that Reagan would have "an immense challenge" if nominated.

Humphrey would win 30 states and the District of Columbia with 397 electoral votes, while Reagan would win seven states with 40 electoral votes, the Monitor said.

CRANSTON

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Democrat Alan Cranston last night called his opponent in the U.S. Senate race "a trigger-happy, shoot - from-the-hip man whose only answer to violence is more violence."

Cranston strongly criticized Republican Max Rafferty in a speech to the AFL-CIO Committeek on Political Education.

The Democrat said the curbing of violence at home and in Vietnam was the main issue of the campaign. But while he would attack the causes as well as the results of the violence, Cranston said Rafferty would merely call for greater use of the police and military.

ROCKEFELLER

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller backed his claim to strength in the industrial areas of the nation yesterday by releasing the results of a poll taken in eight large states which shows him running ahead of vice president Hubert H. Humphrey.

The states were New York, California, Ohio, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts and Maryland.

Rockefeller said the survey showed he would win all eight of these in the general election, whereas Richard M. Nixon would not carry Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

The survey was taken by the Crosley Political Survey and Analysis, Inc. It was financed by Rockefeller and his supporters. Rockefeller said the breakdown of the poll would be released next week.

MIAMI CIRCUS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Supporters of Nelson A. Rockefeller pitched the New York governor's political tent at the Republican presidential nominating site with go-go girls dancing in the streets and a baby elephant that munched marshmallows.

The sidewalk sideshow last night on Collins Avenue, this resort city's main drag, stopped traffic and stunned a few hundred passers-by with blaring "rock" music.

McCARTHY

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The itinerary for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's campaign swing today through New Jersey was shortened yesterday when Secret Service agents warned they could not guarantee the Democratic presidential hopeful "full and complete protection" at one site.

A spokesman for the New Jersey Volunteers for McCarthy said Secret Service officials said there was not enough time to check out the 71-year-old Sussex Avenue Armory in Newark where McCarthy was to have spoken tonight.

The Secret Service viewed a thorough check as necessary in light of the bomb scare Sunday at a rally in New York's Harlem where McCarthy was present, the spokesman explained.

Another factor in the cancellation was the difficulty in obtaining adequate insurance for a rally in the armory, McCarthy's national scheduling director, Norval Reece, said.

REAGAN

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California visits Winston-Salem for a speech at a GOP fund-raising rally tonight and a meeting with GOP national convention delegates from five Southern states.

During his five hours in the city he also will campaign for Rep. Jim Gardner, Republican candidate for governor. Gardner now is regarded as leaning toward Reagan after earlier favoring former vice president Richard M. Nixon for the presidential nomination.

Tonight Reagan will fly to Miami Beach where he will appear before the platform committee of the Republican National Convention.

WALLACE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — George C. Wallace wound up a four-day Florida tour last night with a vow to concentrate federal spending in public works, the space program and "raising old age pensions" if elected president.

He told a foot-stomping, overflow crowd of some 8,000 or more at Tampa's Curtis Hixon Hall last night that he would halt foreign aid to unfriendly governments and "bring home the guideline-writers" to redirect the federal money flow.

"I'm not against spending money," declared the third party presidential candidate. "I'm not against spending for roads and bridges, harbors and docks, and hospitals and schools."

Wallace said he would continue the space program, an important influence in central Florida's economy, because it was "tied directly" with the defense of the nation. The candidate did not elaborate on his proposal to increase old age assistance.

Gary Police Clamp Down After Third Riotous Night

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Police silenced snipers with return gunfire and arrested 64 persons with beefed-up patrols to restore order again early today in Gary.

Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, following a tour of the city, told newsmen "almost no one was on any street after the police moved in and made mass arrests."

No one was reported injured in the third straight night of disorders in this industrial city which has 185,000 residents, 55 per cent of whom are Negro.

Hatcher, 35, the first Negro mayor in a city with a Negro majority, announced establishment of a commission of 14 Negro community leaders. He said the men would work in their respective neighborhoods and act as liaison between the citizens and city officials.

Hatcher said he would continue a curfew on an hour-to-hour basis.

Gasoline Bombs Fly In Muncie

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Gasoline bombs were hurled at five businesses on the predominantly Negro East Side of Muncie last night.

Little damage was reported and police said there was no looting.

Police said two Negro men were arrested after gasoline bombs were found in their car.

The bombing occurred shortly after and near the area where police said a white woman shot and wounded a 13-year-old Negro girl in the back with a .38-caliber pistol.

The girl was hospitalized in fair condition.

Police said Rosa Collier was arrested on preliminary charges of aggravated assault and discharging firearms in the city.

Relatives of Mrs. Collier told police Negro children were throwing stones at the woman's home.

Police said Mrs. Collier said she fired into the ground, but the shot hit the girl.

Muncie's population of 75,000 is 9 per cent Negro.

Shotguns Wound Peoria Police

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Eight policemen were sprayed by shotgun pellets early today after rock and brick throwing erupted into gunfire and firebombings in a Negro neighborhood northeast of downtown Peoria.

Five of the officers were treated at St. Francis Hospital and were released. Three were admitted but their condition was termed not serious.

No other injuries were reported in the early morning outbreak.

Four men and three women, all Negroes, were arrested.

The trouble began late last night when Negro youths gathered at Green and Adams streets and started hurling rocks and bricks at cars and trucks stopping for a traffic signal.

Seattle Police Sniper Targets

SEATTLE (AP) — A sniper fired through the roof of a police car, wounding two officers last night in an outburst of shooting, firebombing and rock-throwing in Seattle's predominantly Negro central area.

Three other officers were injured and three civilians were wounded by gunfire which police said they did not return.

The violence followed arrest of two members of the militant Black Panther party on suspicion of larceny and a rally at which a Panther leader told 150 Negroes "If you have a gun and don't plan to use it, give it to someone who will."

Elmer Dixon, 18, who calls himself the Panthers' captain of military, stood in front of 25 party members dressed in black leather jackets and berets, called police "racist dog pigs," and urged Negroes to arm themselves.

Oakland Youths Repeat Vandalism

OAKLAND (AP) — Bands of Negro youths roamed through the business district and broke windows last night in the second straight night of disturbances.

There were few reports of looting, but 10 windows were broken. More than 30 persons, including 21 juveniles, were arrested.

Police said the youths, as they did Sunday night, caused trouble after drifting away from a "soul music" concert at the Civic Auditorium.

Gaza Refugees

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — A total of 53,000 Arab refugees from the Gaza Strip have fled to Jordon since the Middle East war last June, according to recent estimates by Jordanian officials. They still are arriving at a rate of about 250 daily, officials say.

Policeman Calls For A Walkout

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A national two-day police walkout has been proposed by police leaders embittered by what they consider lack of support in dealing with racial violence.

"When police are being shot like fish in a barrel, it's time we do something," said John Herrington of Philadelphia, national president of the 137,000-member Fraternal Order of Police.

A conference will be held in September to consider the walkout, Herrington said today.

The walkout was first proposed, he said, at a meeting of police leaders from several large cities after they attended the funeral for three Cleveland officers slain by snipers.

"They think people ought to find out what it would be like if there were no police departments," said Herrington.

"You take Cleveland," he said. "Nobody's concerned about the man lying there paralyzed with a bullet in his spine. Nobody's concerned about three officers in their graves. Nobody's concerned about their widows and orphans. What they are concerned about is the civil rights of Evans."

He referred to Fred Ahmed Evans, a black nationalist quoted by police as saying he led a group of 17 men in the attack.

In the 15th Century, if a newly signed seaman heard a sneeze at his left as he went aboard, he would jump ship, for he considered the voyage to be doomed. At sea, goblins were blamed for snarled running gear and ripped sails.

Paratroops Seize Mexican Rioters

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican paratroopers fired a bazooka shell through the heavy wooden doors of a preparatory school early today and dragged out hundreds of young demonstrators after Mexico City's worst student disorders in 20 years.

Nearly 400 persons were injured, 100 seriously, in the five and one-half hour rampage by thousands of teen-age students. Nearly 300 persons were arrested. Some sources reported one youth was killed, but this could not be confirmed.

The students, ranging from 14 to 18 years, were demanding the removal of the chief of police and the commander of riot troops, charging their forces with brutality in putting down pro-Castro demonstrations last weekend.

Some of the mob shouted anti-American slogans and called for another Vietnam in Latin America.

The wave of violence began Friday afternoon when students gathered to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the start of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution. Some students battled with police.

Students held another demonstration the next day charging police brutality. Police arrested 76 persons, including Mika Seeger, 20, daughter of American folk singer Pete Seeger. Miss Seeger is still held in Lecumberru Prison.

Grandmother Receives Heart From A Woman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 49-year-old grandmother is the world's newest heart transplant patient, and she was reported in satisfactory condition today at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

Beth White Brunk, a Houston housewife, received the heart of a Corsican, Tex., woman, last night in the first woman-to-woman heart transplant.

The donor was Betty O'Neal, 40, who entered the hospital yesterday after suffering a brain hemorrhage.

Surgeons led by Dr. Denton A. Cooley performed the operation in about two hours, a spokesman said. Cooley has supervised eight human heart transplants here.

Mrs. Brunk, wife of a commercial pilot, was admitted to St. Luke's July 22, a day before surgeons performed their seventh heart transfer in Houston.

The recipient had a blood clot in her lungs that would have killed her in 24 hours, said a daughter, Gladys Smith of Bryan, Tex.

Mrs. Brunk has four children, four stepchildren and nine grandchildren. She first talked with Dr. Cooley last Friday, Mrs. Smith said.

"She was very enthusiastic

the daughter said. "She kept up with them in the paper and talked about them all the time."

The donor's physician, Dr. Robert D. Bone of Corsicana, said Mrs. O'Neal had a brain tumor. An autopsy was planned to determine the type of growth.

Mrs. O'Neal was in a coma 24 hours before a three-man team of doctors declared her dead about 8 p.m., the spokesman said.

The operation began minutes later and Mrs. Brunk was listed as "doing well" shortly after it was completed.

Reagan Fires Blast At Hitch Over Funds

SACRAMENTO (AP) — In a sudden counterattack, Gov. Ronald Reagan has fired off his strongest criticism of Charles J. Hitch, the University of California's new president.

Angry because Hitch tried to persuade the Legislature to override Reagan's $6 million in budget vetoes and vote more money for U.C., the governor wrote the president yesterday:

"I am disappointed the university would resort to such methods in its campaign to drum up public sympathy."

Reagan said Hitch's letters to legislators are "part of a statewide campaign which is being managed by the university administration."

He said the president's statement that present levels of appropriation could cut the quality of U.C. education is "quite misleading."

Reaction to Reagan's remarks was mixed. Hitch's office said he hadn't received the letter and wouldn't comment until he saw it.

Sen. John Schmitz, R-Tustin, had his own letter to Hitch.

"In response to your letter of July 22, you can count on my vote against any increase in funds for the University of California until you clean up the cesspool you have allowed to develop at Berkeley — and increasingly on other campuses as well," he said.

A Democrat, Chairman Albert S. Rodda of the Senate Education Committee, urged both Hitch and Reagan to avoid name calling. He said "I see no prospect of the legislature overriding the vetoes at all."

He said Reagan might be correct when he insisted that university appropriations had been increased in the past two years at the same rate as during the previous Democratic Brown administration.

"But we are entering a period of growth, with the war babies now starting graduate school," the Sacramento legislator said. "The level of support that was satisfactory at an earlier time could be inadequate."

Hitch had said a budget of the present level could force "an actual decline in the standards and quality" of education.

Bagley 'Infraction' Bill Awaits Reagan Action

SACRAMENTO (A) — The decision was up to Gov. Ronald Reagan today whether to go along with legislation that would eliminate the right to a jury trial in very minor traffic cases.

The legislature gave final approval yesterday to the bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and sent it to the governor's desk.

The measure sets up a new type of law offense called an "infraction." It covers only nonmoving traffic violations such as overtime parking.

It would eliminate the right to a jury trial, but retain the choice of a trial before a judge. Those convicted under the new category would not go to jail, but could only be fined.

Supporters said the measure is necessary to free the courts of jammed calendars caused by thousands of persons each year demanding a jury trial when charged with such minor violations.

Local Mental Health Fund Bill Passes

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Legislation seeking to provide better mental health care at the state and local levels — at less cost to local government — has won final legislative approval.

Passage of the bill by the Assembly yesterday sent it to Gov. Ronald Reagan, who is expected to sign the measure.

Financially, the most important part of the bill by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, would raise the state's share of local mental health services from 75 per cent to 90 per cent. Counties would furnish the remainder.

In health terms, supporters said the most vital result will be to smooth out coordination of state and local mental care programs which now sometimes overlap, and give counties an an incentive to improve their own efforts.

A key ai is to eliminate the current financial advantage sometimes realized by a county which, instead of treating a patient at the local level, sends him off to a state mental hospital.

Youths Arraigned On Assault Count

Four San Rafael youths whose alleged attack on two Novato brothers was halted yesterday by a warning shot fired by a sheriff's bailiff were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a joint charge of assault.

Plea entries for the four, Steven J. O'Brien, 19, Daniel J. O'Brien, 21, Greg W. O'Brien, 20, all brothers, and Robert N. Acree, 19, were scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Officers said the four teamed up in an attack on Frank Bonomolo, 22, and his 19-year-old brother, George, outside the San Rafael Courthouse. Bailiff Arthur Wiggins fired the shot, halting the affray.

Arceo-Novotny Trial Slated For Oct. 28

Jury trial of John Arceo, 31, and Dennis C. Novotny, 22, both accused of the Dec. 6 murder of Wesley L. Marshall of San Rafael, was scheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of Oct. 28.

The setting followed a ruling by Judge Harold J. Haley denying a request by Arceo,o f San Rafael, to dismiss two additional charges of robbery on grounds that the wording of the indictment is uncertain and insufficient.

The trial will include trying Arceo on those two counts, the robbing of Julian's Shell service station in Strawberry on Nov. 27 and Don's Market in Fairfax on Nov. 30.

Arceo, wh earlier had pleaded innocent to the murder, pleaded innocent of both robbery counts. His attorneys, Harold B. Hyde and Robert A. Smallman, had asked that the trial setting be delayed pending a filing in the near future of a request to have trial moved from Marin County.

Judge Haley said the Oct. 28 setting gives sufficient time for such a motion, and will speed the matter to trial. Michael Lewton, attorney for Novotny, said he intends to appeal a recent denial of a similar change of venue motion for Novotny to the State Supreme Court.

Judge Haley said the October trial date will give sufficient time for that appeal.

Novotny, also of San Rafael, is accused only on the murder count. A third defendant in the murder charge, Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, has pleaded guilty and is serving a life sentence in state prison.

Alioto Tries To Smooth Police Crisis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor Joseph Alioto offered a proposed compromise yesterday to the police department crisis with the aim of averting Police Chief Thomas Cahill's threatened resignation.

The crisis stems from a move by the new police commissioners named by Alioto to remove inspector Thomas Fitzpatrick as head of both the intelligence and vice squads and name patrolman Ed Nevin, a friend of the mayor, to the post.

It was reported that Cahill, Deputy Chief Alfred Nelder and Police Commissioner Jack Mailliard were ready to resign if Fitzpatrick were ousted.

Alioto, who said the suggestion that Nevin head the vice squad did not come from him, proposed that Fitzpatrick's present post be split.

His plan is to have Fitzpatrick remain as head of the intelligence unit with the $972 a month salary raised to the $1,108 he gets as Director of the Bureau of Special Services — the vice squad

Nevin, a member of the China detail operating within the vice squad, would be elevated as director.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lynda Johnson Robb's baby doctor is the chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Bethesda Naval Hospital — supporting speculation that's where she'll have her first child, the Washington Post reports.

Lynda, whose husband Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb is serving in Vietnam is receiving prenatal care from Capt. Walter M. Lonergan at Bethesda, the newspaper said.

Mother Bares Teen-Agers' Cache Of Suspected Drugs

A worried mother's phone call yesterday led San Anselmo police to a cache of suspected dangerous drugs which two teenage boys were apparently distributing in capsules and small packages.

After the mother reported to police that she thought her 15 year-old son and a companion had drugs in her son's room, the police found what they took to be bulk LSD, 55 capsules of LSD, marijuana seeds, hashish and other unidentified capsules. Also in a drawer where the alleged LSD was found was a .22-caliber revolver.

The 15-year-old's companion, Jeffery B. Braun, 18, of 479 Scenic Avenue, was arrested on suspicion of possession of drugs and released from County Jail without bail. The 15-year-old was booked into Juvenile Hall.

The boys reportedly told police they had obtained what they said was LSD from a man in Sausalito, whom they refused to identify, and they were placing it in capsules which they planned to turn over to another unidentified man.

The said they had not paid for the LSD. The 15-year-old told police that the revolver belongs to his father, but his mother said this is not true.

Braun is to appear at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Parents Say Socialist Speaker Asked For Funds At High School

Several San Rafael parents complained today of what they said was soliciation of funds bh a Socialist Labor Party speaker at a San Rafael High School summer class yesterday.

Herbert Steiner, Socialist Labor Party candidate for U.S. senator, spoke to about 200 students enrolled in U.S. history and government classes yesterday. His appearance was one of a series arranged by teachers of the classes, which will include a speaker from the John Birch Society's Public Opinion Library in Novato on Thursday, reported Don Achziger, summer school principal.

All speakers are warned not to solicit funds, Achziger said. However, Steiner passed out pamphlets which included a request for 25-cent contributions to the Socialist Labor Party.

The party has not qualified for the ballot in California. One of the pamphlets explained how to vote for Steiner for Senate and for the party's candidates for President and Vice President, Henning Blomen and George Taylor, by write-in.

Steiner's speech dealt with the aims of Marxist socialism and what he regards as failings of the capitalistic system. Achziger reported the speaker was roundly booed by the students.

Cigarette Smokers Linked To Air Pollution Illness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking appears to multiply a person's susceptibility to a crippling lung disease associated with air pollution, a new American Cancer Society study shows.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, a society vice president, presented preliminary results of the study of 126,986 men between the ages of 45 and 74 to a Senate public works subcommittee today.

"These findings suggest that occupational exposure to dust, fumes and gases has a greater effect (in respect to emphysema) upon cigarette smokers than upon nonsmokers," Hammond said.

"To put it another way, the combination of the two factors appears to have a far greater effect than might be expected from the effect of each of the two alone," he continued.

Emphysema is a chronic lung disease chracterized by shortness of breath, fatigue and chronic coughing. The disease has been associated with both heavy cigarette smoking and air pollution.

A surprising finding in the study, Hammond said, is that "indications of emphysema were more common among rural residents than among metropolitan residents."

"There is no firm evidence that general air pollution increases the risk of cancer," he said.

Boy Dies After Petaluma Crash

A 13-year-old Rohnert Park boy died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when his bike and a car driven by a Mill Valley man collided west of Petaluma.

John E. Sotello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sotello, suffered head and skull injuries and a fractured left arm. The car was driven by Erwin W. Vaughan Jr., 39, of 642 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley.

Vaughan was not injured.

The boy was taken to a Petaluma hospital and later transferred to San Francisco.

Lagoon Bill Passed By Committee

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill to extend to 1971 Bolinas Harbor District's deadline to improve the lagoon yesterday won a unanimous "do pass" recommendation by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and was sent to the floor of the lower house.

If approved by the Assembly, the bill would have to return to the Senate for concurrence in amendments giving the Marin County supervisors veto power over development plans drawn by the harbor board.

The bill (SB 1014) by Sen John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, before amendment was strongly opposed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, but no opposition was voiced at yesterday's committee hearing. The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, at the request of the supervisors Thursday will consider dissolution of the harbor district.

The state Lands Commission granted the lagoon to the district in 1957 on condition that the lagoon be "substantially improved" within 10 years.

30 per cent of the trucks North Vietnam sends with supplies for South Vietnam are destroyed or damaged on the way by air attack. "We know that if we stop the bombing 100 per cent of the trucks would arrive," he said.

"No one has told us what would happen if we stopped bombing. We feel we and our allies are entitled to an answer to that question.

Rusk's meeting with newsmen, the 60th since he took office seven and one-half years ago, was devoted largely to Vietnam.

He declined to comment on the current confrontation between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union. He said it would not be prudent for him to comment, particularly while meetings between top leaders of the two countries are still going on.

Rusk made these other points in reply to questions:

The United States is bitterly disappointed that North Korea has not acted in accord with international law to permit the release of the 82 surviving crew members of the USS Pueblo. The United States will continue to "use every measure at our disposal to bring these men out safe and alive."

On the Nigeria - Biafra civil war, the United States has urged all persons in responsible positions in both countries to let an international relief effort move forward with the help of the Red Cross.

The Australian government is seeing what it can do to obtain the release of 11 Americans being held by the Cambodian government for inadvertently entering Cambodian waters.

of $2.5 billion announced by the President on March 31."

The deficit ranks as the fourth highest in history, exceeded only by those in the war years 1943, 1944, and 1945, when deficits above $50 billion a year were incurred.

When the budget went to Congress in January the deficit was figured at about $19.9 billion but the estimate had been substantially increased by the end of March.

Fowler and Zwick reported receipts of $152.5 billion and outlays of $178.9 billion during fiscal year 1968.

Vietnam spending was estimated in the budget in January at $24.5 billion but President Johnson later revised this upward to about $27 billion.

Another warning of a possible Communist assault in the northern provinces came from Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, the I Corps commander. He said his troops yesterday smashed a Communist attempt to infiltrate Da Nang and that his men captured 20 Viet Cong only a few yards from his own headquarters.

Viet Cong terrorists tossed three hand grenades into a crowded market place on Saigon's doorstep today, killing eight persons ond wounding 42. Five of the dead at Hoc Mon, seven miles northwest of Saigon, were Vietnamese soldiers, the communique said.

Steel Union Delays To Sweeten Pot

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union decided today to hold out to the last possible moment before taking action on a steel industry contract offer reported to be 78 cents.

"Maybe we'll get this pot sweetened a little more," said a union district director after a 10:00 a.m. meeting of the union's executive board was postponed for two hours. The official reason given for the delay was that negotiators were working on specific contract language.

At noon a secretary arrived with a written note that put off the meeting two more hours because talks were still going on.

A scheduled 2 p.m. meeting of the union's Basic Steel Industry Conference also was moved back two hours to 4 p.m.

"You know how those steel people are," commented the district director. "They don't open up all the way until the last minute."

It was reported the wage and benefits package, for three years, still is being negotiated and may be worth another 10 cents an hour before it is wrapped up.

"They have an agreement," said Anthony Tomko, president of a 5,000-man local at McKeesport, Pa. "The problem now seems to be whether the union leaders can sell it to the members."

For the first time, the 600 local presidents have the power to ratify or reject a contract, or call a strike when the current agreement runs out at midnight tomorrow. They are organized into a group called the basic steel industry conference, meeting this afternoon.

Officially, the union wasn't even admitting yesterday that a new offer from the industry was on the table, much less that it was acceptable to top negotiators.

If the offer turns out to be worth 78 cents—the figures are always subject to different interpretations—it will hit the 6 per cent the union was demanding.

Steelworkers averaged $3.84 an hour in May, when checks were swollen by overtime, but normal earnings are closer to $3.70.

The contract would directly affect about 450,000 men in basic steel, and another 100,000 in closely allied industries.

But the negotiations involve only the 388,000 men who work for the 11 largest steel companies. The package then becomes the pattern for other companies.

Larkspur Driver Hurt Near Home

A 52-year-old Larkspur woman was hospitalized yesterday with bruises after her car went down an embankment near her home.

Pearl L. Hendricks of 201 Hawthorne Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition today at Ross General Hospital, where she was transferred after treatment at Marin General Hospital.

Details of the accident, which happened about 1:30 p.m., were not available today. Mrs. Hendricks apparently backed out of her garage, across the street and down the embankment, police said.

Novato Gun Group Sets First Session

The first meeting of the newly appointed Gun Control Advisory Committee for the city of Novato will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the office of the city manager in the Novato City Hall, according to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

The Novato City Council authorized the seven man committee and last Tuesday named six members to the committee, three pro-gun control and three anti-gun control. Mayor Harley McAskill was to name the seventh member at large, but has not yet made the appointment, according to Baget.

gations be able to air his views prompted a surprise prolongation of the talks.

Reliable sources said it "looks almost certain now" that the talks, which opened yesterday in Cierna, close to the Czechoslovak-Soviet border, would continue at least until tomorrow.

The Czechoslovaks had originally planned for a one or two-day meeting with each group represented by four or five speakers. The Russians, however, insisted that each member of both 11-man delegations take the floor, reliable sources said. Apparently, this demand was based on the hope to encourage potentially conservative elements in the Czechoslovak presidium to turn against their chief, Alexander Dubcek.

President Ludvik Svoboda of Czechoslovakia, wartime winner of the order of "Hero of the Soviet Union," was understood to have been the most prominent speaker at the secrecy surrounded caucus today. Svoboda is not a member of the policy-making presidium but takes part in the talks to underline Prague's pledge that ties with Moscow are inviolable.

Both Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Dubcek had addressed the gathering yesterday. Authoritative circles described the opening meeting as peaceful and not marred by any verbal clashes.

Sausalito Police Wallop Firemen In Ball Game

The Sausalito Police Department won the series trophy by beating the Sausalito Fire Department 15 to 6 in the second and final game of the third annual summer baseball event Sunday at Bayside School.

The winning pitcher was Police Chief Edward S. Kreins. Detective Sgt. James R. Nunes batted four out of four for the police. His record was one home run, two doubles and a single.

Making home runs for the police team beside Nunes were officer William Palmini, Detective Kevin J. Sharp and the chief's son Paul Kreins, who hit two home runs.

Since neither team had enough players without importing talent, 15-year-old Paul Kreins played for the police while reserve fireman beefed up the fire department team.

Capt. Ralph K. Pederson pitched for the fire department. Reserve Fireman John Kowski batted a home run.

No Charge Filed On Synthetic Pot

No charge has been filed against Robert Henkle Reno Jr. pending further investigation, Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert K. Birkie said in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Reno, 18, of Concord, N. H., was booked into County Jail Friday on suspicion of possessing a substance which may be the first synthetic marijuana case in Marin County.

Reno was ordered released from jail on his promise not to leave the county pending outcome of a laboratory analysis of the substance.

Ancient Crystal Skull On Display Tomorrow

An ancient full-sized skull, hand carved from quartz crystal, will be on display from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Luxton Optical Co. in the Bon Aire Shopping Center in Greenbrae.

The skull, discovered in British Honduras in 1927 is believed to have been used in ancient religious rites. A set of prisms is carved into the base of the skull producing various visual effects, according to skull owner Frank Dorland, Mill Valley art expert.

Reagan Appoints New San Francisco Judge

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robert H. Schnacke was appointed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the San Francisco County Superior Court.

Schnacke, 54, a Republican, succeeds Judge Melvyn I. Cronin, who retired. Schnacke has been in private practice since 1961.

Young Filipinos Break U.S. Embassy's Gates

MANILA (AP) — About 100 youths screaming "Yankees go home" and "killers" broke through the main gate to the U.S. Embassy compound tonight in protest against the fatal shooting of a Filipino teen-ager by an American Marine guard.

Confronted by guards, they regrouped outside the compound and continued their shouting protest against the killing last Friday of Rogelio Gonzales, 18, by a sentry at the U.S. naval station at Sangley Point south of Manila. First reports said Gonzales was trying to steal a bicycle.

Several yelled at the embassy guards: "Why don't you kill us, like Gonzales was killed?"

The demonstration was the most dramatic expression of feeling so far in connection with the killing of Gonzales.

Separate panels of U.S. Navy and Philippine government investigators are investigating the incident.

The Manila press has bitterly criticized the killing, saying the situation did not warrant shooting, and insisting that the guard —Lance Cpl. Kenneth Smith, 21, Astoria, N.J.—be turned over to Philippine authorities for trial.

The youths who marched on the embassy were part of a group of about 300 that earlier in the evening charged into the national Congress, protesting against the participation of Filipino forces in the Vietnamese war.

They were demonstrating against a bill seeking money to extend the tour of duty of the Philippine Civic Action Group in Vietnam.

BONDS

quent taxes, and from lower expenditures than envisioned.

Nevertheless, Cassou and Supt. Chester G. Carlisle urged the board to beware of committing reserve funds to construction projects. Cassou told the meeting that the district will need the reserves to sustain the annual burden of $500,000 which will be needed to operate the new high schools.

Cutler also said he did not believe the voters would approve a bond issue which proposed spending $2 million more on one high school than on another, when both would serve the same number of students, 800.

Board member Mrs. Bette Wallace pointed out that the difference was due to higher land preparation costs, including multi-story construction, at Tiburon, and to inflation costs due to more extended construction there.

The board must approve the bond issue at its next meeting, at 8 p.m. Monday in the district office at Redwood, in order to get it on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Winners Named In Hootenanny

Alto School and the Junior Day Camp were first place winners in the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department's hootenanny held recently at Old Mill Park.

Alto School's production of a "Peanuts" puppet show took first place for skits and the Junior Day Camp won first prize for a medley of songs.

Old Mill School placed second in the skit category and Senior Day Camp took second place in the song fest section with Boyle Park placing third.

Car Driver Hurt In Car-Van Crash

Steve George Zambich, 23, of 1855 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a neck sprain after a car-van collision on the Irwin Street off-ramp from Highway 101 in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol reported Zambich's car had stopped at 4:25 p.m. at the Second Street traffic light when it was struck from behind by a Pacific Telephone Co. van driven by Gordon E. Irish, 45, of 1717 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. 5, San Rafael.

Irish said the van's brakes failed and investigation showed the master cylinder had ruptured, the highway patrol reported.

Pair Plead Guilty To Receiving

A 31-year-old Novato woman and a companion from Petaluma pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of receiving property obtained by theft in the Petaluma Division of the Southern Municipal Court District.

The case of Dorothy Martin and LouAnne Kaczmarek, 32, was certified to Superior Court, Dept. 4, Santa Rosa, for 9 a.m. Aug. 5.

The two were arrested July 15 on suspicion of taking more than $800 worth of furniture from a model home.

Jury Trial Starts In Car Theft Case

Jury trial of Bruce E. Govern, 23, and Thomas R. Ellis, 19, jointly accused of two counts of car theft, started today in Marin Superior Court before Samuel W. Gardiner.

The pair, of San Francisco, is accused of stealing a car in San Francisco on May 19, abandoning it in Greenbrae, and stealing a car owned by Robert Lewis Furtch of Windsor, Sonoma County.

Slayer Directs His Own Defense In Penalty Trial

The penalty phase of the murder trial of San Quentin killer Leo Estrada Robles began in Marin Superior Court today with the defendant directing his own case.

Robles, convicted by a jury Thursday of slaying fellow-inmate Forrest W. Smith, 42, had requested that his attorneys, Roger P. Garety and Howard K. Morehouse, be dismissed from the case.

Judge Harold J. Haley instead has permitted Robles to direct his defense in the penalty phase — to determine whether Robles receives a death sentence or life in prison — but asked the lawyers to remain in the case as advisors to Robles

Robles withdrew his second plea of innocent by reason of insanity. The same jury that convicted him will determine his sentence for the Nov. 6 killing. Robles already is serving a life term for another murder.

Borst Arraigned; Assault, Kidnap

Jerry Stanley Borst, 22, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on an indictment accusing him of kidnaping and rape.

Judge Harold J. Haley appointed the public defender's office to represent him, then scheduled further proceedings for 9:30 a.m. Monday on the regular criminal calendar.

Borst, of Novato, is charged with kidnaping a 28-year-old Novato woman with intent to rob her July 9, with kidnaping her two small sons, and with raping her. He is in County Jail in lieu of $31,250 bail.

Pacifica Battle In Second Night

PACIFICA (AP) — About 400 young people clashed with police in the second straight night of violence at the Linda Mar Shopping Center.

Fire bombs, rocks and bottles were thrown at police who tried to clear the center last night. By early today, 19 had been arrested, compared with 13 Sunday night.

The youths were protesting a new city ordinance that bans loitering in the area.

Minor blazes were started, but there were no injuries, officers said.

Pacifica police were aided by 100 San Mateo County sheriff's deputies and 25 California highway patrolmen.

by the boards of supervisors in each of the six counties.

The appointments remain the responsibility of the supervisors.

In San Francisco, one director will be appointed by the mayor and eight by the board of supervisors. Of the eight, four must be supervisors, according to the bill.

Bagley previously argued that addition of elected officials to the bridge board will make it more responsive to the public.

The Senate version of the bill added a "grandfather clause" to exclude present directors from the changes until their four-year terms expire.

The bill requires the district to seek competitive bidding on all work and all purchases over $5,000. It also requires an annual audit of district books and authorizes a one-way toll collection system.

It also bars splitting the cost of a project into smaller jobs to evade the requirement for competitive bidding.

Bagley introduced the bill after the bridge board approved a $320,000 subcontract without competitive bidding. Bridge directors said the subcontract was for a structural inspection, even though it was to replace rusted suspension cables.

Fairfax Group Lists Topics For Town Meet

A list of nine general topics for discussion at the Dec. 7 Fairfax Congress for Community Progress was developed last night by the project committee.

The none topics are business health, civic services, transportation, education, youth, culture and recreation, beautification, civic image and human relations.

The list will eventually be boiled down to five subjects for panel discussions at the congress, committee secretary Mrs. Priscilla Gray said.

A questionnaire subcommittee will meet next to prepare a list of questions to be mailed to Fairfax residents to see where public interests lie. No date has been set for the subcommittee meeting, but it is to report to the project committee when it meets at 8 p.m. Aug. 19 at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Hub Parks Board Changes Session

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet last night, will meet instead today at 7:45 p.m. at the Pepperwood Coffee Shop and Lounge, 888 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commission will hear reports from two of its committees on prospects for developing the Robson-Harrison Park at 237 Crescent Road, which the city acquired last week.

Th meeting last night was postponed to enable the commissioners to attend various recreation activities in the city, reported recreation director Frank L. Quinn.

Driver Asleep, Truck Hits Pole

Toyben Deirup, 51, of Berkeley, was treated for cuts at Kaiser Foundation Hospital yesterday after his southbound truck drove off Highway 101 in Ignacio at 7 p.m., hit a light pole and rolled over.

Deirup told the California Highway Patrol he fell asleep at the wheel.

Contests Approved

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office has given an opinion that Kentucky cities cannot keep merchants from offering giveaway contests or games.

OBITUARIES

George R. Barnes Dies At 49

George Robert Barnes, 49, a lieutenant with the Marin County Sheriff's Office, died today of apparent natural causes, according to Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig.

Barnes went to his home at 7 Doris Avenue, Novato, at about 3:30 a.m. after work, Craig said. Barnes complained of being extremely tired and went to bed. His wife, Elizabeth, could not awaken him and called the Novato Fire Department at 4:38 a.m., which could not revive him with its resuscitator. He was taken to Novato General Hospital by Novato Ambulance, where he was pronounced dead on arrival, according to Craig.

A native of Santa Rosa, he had served on Ukiah Police Department for 10 years prior to coming to the Marin County Sheriff's Office 12 years ago.

He was in charge of the Marin City substation in 1963 and then became the officer in charge of the Tiburon station when that city incorporated the next year, according to the sheriff's office. He held that position until he had a heart attack in June 1967. He was stationed at the main office in the courthouse after that as assistant patrol commander.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter Jacqueline, both of the home; another daughter, Mrs. Patricia Johnstone of Novato; his mother, Mrs. Julia M. Barnes of Santa Rosa; three brothers, Clyde Barnes and Walter Barnes, both of Santa Rosa, and Donald Barnes of Vallejo; and sister, Mrs. Evelyn Woods of Palo Alto.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

LUDWIG FLYGE

Funeral for Ludwig Flyge, 87, of Reno, Nevada, father of Lewis J. Flyge of Tiburon, was held today in Reno. Flyge died Friday.

He was a sculptor and wood carver and had studied at the Kings Academy in Denmark before coming to New York where he carved much of the elaborate ornamental work on buildings designed by Stanford White.

He came to San Francisco to work on the 1915 Panama Pacific Fair and did much of the sculpture for the Tower of Jewels and the Palace of Fine Arts.

He flew with Beachy and Crissy and designed and built the first aircraft for the San Francisco Police Patrol during World War I.

In 1920 he was commissioned to do the sculpturing on the Washoe First National Bank in Reno. He remained in Reno in the construction business, building many of the large hotels and casinos.

Other survivors are a grandchild and two great-grandchildren.

Petrini's 4th Anniversary
It's so Stylish To Have Your Own Butcher . . . There are Many to Choose From!

The number of butchers employed is not so important! Our rule is to have enough on hand at all times to adequately take care of you, our customer, in the "Petrini Manner." This is important! This is why you seldom see a Petrini market manned with a "minimum" staff.

During rush hours and heavy business periods, we can't go out and just pick up an extra butcher or two. A Petrini butcher is a Special Butcher. He likes his craft and is proud of his work . . . he derives a personal pleasure in pleasing the customer. He knows meat. He knows about butchering, buying, cutting, aging, preservation and preparation. These things he does exceptionally well. He can answer practically any question you might ask him about meat. If he doesn't know—he finds out.

He knows these things because "the Petrini Manner" of selecting and presenting meat to you is widely respected by all butchers . . . and as a Petrini butcher he has the opportunity to experience and acquire information that took years to develop.

If you should happen to catch us on one of the rare times when we are undermanned . . . you'll find the company executives taking off their coats, rolling up their sleeves and pitching in. They all started behind the counter and can still handle the tools of their trade.

first walk home from Miller Creek School, he was followed and threatened by 12 boys. It was then that "things" began to come.

"The neighbors called the principal, and came over to apologize; and the school called and apologized," she said. And it wasn't long before we were the most popular family on the block — all the kids came here." She added, "we all discipline each others children."

The real difficulty, she explained, arises from some parents blowing their children's squabbles "all out of proportion." She said the white male seems to pose the most serious threat to integration—especially if he is concerned about his daughter.

Mrs. Jones, who majored in psychology in college said she believes a few fathers feel threatened by close relationships between her son and neighborhood girls. She said one man picked her son up by the collar and threatened to break both his arms when one such situation developed between Craig and a neighborhood girl.

"This kind of thing instills a fear of the white man in my son that is very hard to remove," she continued. "We're not here to find husbands and wives for our children. We came looking for sunshine and space."

"I would be disappointed if my kids marry out of their race," she said. "I'm trying to instill black pride in them."

Another problem that has to be constantly checked is rumor, she went on. "You have to stay informed on what's being said about you and what's going on around you."

She said, "You never know when something will come up. As an example she cited a rumor that a "for rent sign in the neighborhood was directly related to her family's presence. It turned out to be the eviction of a "sloppy tennant," she said.

Mrs. Jones said the local mothers have gone out of their way to straighten out problems brought about when their children fight — like the time one mother telephoned in tears to quell a story brought home by her daughter, and also told to Mrs. Jones earlier by her 10-year-old girl, Judy.

The child had told Judy that her mother "hates niggers" which, the tearful woman explained, was complete misrepresentation of her upbringing and totally unfounded, Mrs. Jones declared.

"You can't get worked up by these things," Mrs. Jones explained, "Kids always work these things out." Later she declared, "Children are children, and with proper exposure, they will change this society."

For Mrs. Lewis, a resident of one of San Francisco's low-cost housing projects, it was children who convinced her to have confidence in the Cliffords — and eventually bridge the gap to Marin.

This month she starts her fourth summer vacation with her children at the Clifford's home in San Rafael. It began with a close friendship, sparked by the warmth of the Clifford's children. "I got close to them and discovered these people are really human," she explained.

Today the Cliffords are the godparents of Mrs. Lewis' two children. She has three children, Mrs. Felicia Hill, 20, Leonard, 15, and Monica, 8.

"Being a Negro, I was reluctant to try Marin the first time, she said. "You have to prepare yourself for the experience. In fact, it takes real gall to go into an all-white neighborhood," she declared.

Sitting in her San Francisco living room, she said, "I doubt that I could find five families here that I could take to Marin and vice versa."

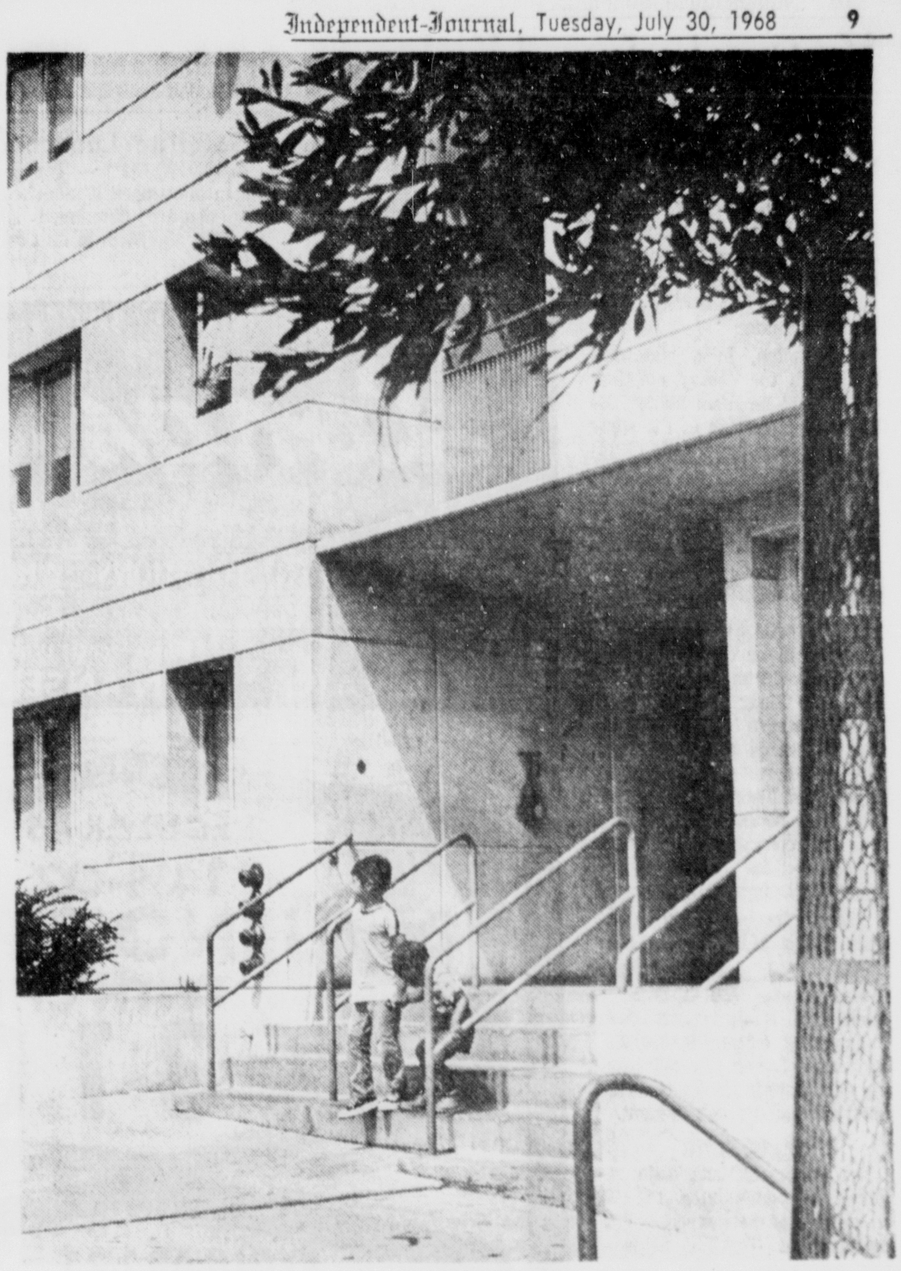
"I've always been around Caucasions," she continued, "but living in San Rafael was a real novelty to the Cliffords' neighbors." She added, "But the people were friendly."

She said her children mixed "beautifully" with the neighbors and this brought about adult meetings, as mothers came child hunting at meal times.

"I took the whole thing with a grain of salt," she said. "They invited me and I made myself at home — just like Dorothy (Mrs. Clifford) does in my home.

"I think the Clifford's project was marvelous," she concluded. "But you have to pick your people."

Neither the Cliffords, Joneses, nor Mrs. Lewis attempted to profess mass solutions to racism and bigotry. But they emphasized that friendship breaks all color barriers. So they began a project in which everyone could participate on an individual basis.



TOGETHERNESS—Two small boys exit together from the apartment building at 3131 26th Street near Potrero Hill in San Francisco, where Mrs. Gertrude Lewis and family reside 50 weeks a year.

FAMILY STORY—Gracie Jones, now a two-year Marinwood resident, talks about the frustrations and rewards of being part of the only black family in a white suburb. With her husband, Theodore R. Jones, and two children, she was one of those to first experience Marin living on a trial basis.

Resident Sees Denial In Rezoning

A Tiburon area property owner told the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday that a proposed rezoning in the neighborhood would deny him the right to develop his lot in conformance with the zoning at the time he bought it.

The planning staff proposes to rezone from duplex to single family residential a block of Kiel Cove bordered by Agreste Avenue, Paradise Drive, Mar Centro and Mar East, because of the large number of undersized lots.

William J. Guinnane of Novato said he bought property off Mar East Street with plans to build a duplex. Under the proposed rezoning, Guinnane said, he would be denied that right.

Several residents of the area objected that duplexes blocked bay views in the area and said property values would be enhanced with single family zoning.

The planning staff said it had received three letters opposed to rezoning.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said it was difficult to standarize the height of duplexes because of the hilly terrain. But the commission asked the staff to try and come up with a height regulation, and postponed the matter until Aug. 12.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

FEES — Passed and sent to the board of supervisors a schedule of increased public fees for processing of applications. The schedule seeks increase from 5 to 100 per cent.

MISSILES — Postponed until Aug. 12 discussion of a proposed missile base in Southern Marin.

Hansen Denies Knife Assault

Neils Hyrum Hansen, 46, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to felony assault with a knife on two San Anselmo bar patrons.

Jury trial was scheduled for the week of Oct. 21.

Hansen, of Petaluma, is accused of stabbing John Capley, 30, and Eugene Paine, 43, both of San Anselmo, at the Knot Inn, 300 Sir Francis Drake Avenue, on March 10 following an argument over a taxi bill.

Commissioners Favor Dump Near Marincello

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday informally approved plans for an 8.5-acre trash dump near the entrance to Marincello in Tennessee Valley.

The commission discussed the plan more than three hours and took a field trip to the site.

Proposed by Carrol D. Madsen, a former parentr in the San Quentin disposal site, the dump would be located on the Allan Olds Ranch on the west side of Tennessee Valley Road. It would be shielded from the street by a ridge and a line of tall trees.

The application for a use permit to operate the dump was denied May 24 by zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill. Madsen appealed.

Albert R. Bianchi, Madsen's attorney, argued yesterday that residents of Southern Marin sorely needed a place to dump rubbish and that the Sausalito and Mill Valley planning commissions and the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club had endorsed this location.

Bianchi said no wet garbage would be dumped at the spot. He said some 50,000 cubic yards of compacted fill from the ranch would be used to cover the trash. Kenneth Frost, project-engineer, estimated it would take five to 10 years to reach capacity if the dump were used regularly.

Opposing the dump was Herbert K. Walton, attorney for the Dean Witter family, whose 1,260-acre dairy and cattle ranch is adjacent to the Olds property. He said the area was improper for a dump because of future residential development of Tennessee Valley and because the entrance to Marincello is located across the street from the dump entrance.

He predicted smells, rodents and dust and feared the lack of a main water supply into the area would bring an abnormal fire hazard.

Bianchi said, however, that Madsen was willing to take steps to reduce the possibility of fire and that the dump would be a safe, clean operation. He added that the proprietor would see to it that the watershed area did not become polluted.

William Desmond, Marin director of environmental health, told the commission of state and local safeguards against improper operation of trash dumps.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr., terming opposition to the dump "hysterical and overrated," asked the planning staff to prepare a set of conditions to allay health and safety fears.

His request won the endorsement of six commissioners, although chairman Hugh Dougherty and Margaret B. Azevedo indicated their votes did not reflect final approval. Commissioner Michael Praszker abstained because he was absent for part of the debate.

The dump issue will be raised again Aug. 12.

Tomales 4-H Girl Wins Fair Awards

Alice Gotterdam of the Tomales 4-H club was awarded three trophies and a certificate for her beef entries in the Sonoma County Fair 4-H and Future Farmers of America livestock showing.

Her award-winning entries included: Outstanding Exhibit-Breeding and/or Fat, Best Angus Project, Champion Shorthorn Steer and Beef Showmanship.

Ronald Souza of the Tomales F.F.A. received a trophy for "Best Beef Project."

Driver Fined $174

Jamie William Maring, 45, of 120 El Capitan Avenue, San Rafael, was fined $174 and placed on two years probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him March 12 on Golden Gate Bridge.

Goldsmith Denies Possessing Pot

Keith R. Goldsmith, son of U.S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith of Mill Valley, pleaded innocent to a charge of marijuana possession in municipal court in Redwood City yesterday. Preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 9 at 2 p.m.

Goldsmith, 24, of Menlo Park, was arrested in Atherton Saturday night after he was stopped by police on suspicion of reckless driving. Police said they found marijuana in his car. It was Goldsmith's third marijuana arrest in 16 months.

Civic Affairs Poll Shows Disapproval Of Span Board

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs has reported it polled 212 voters in the Fourth Supervisorial District and found that 34 per cent of them disapprove of the way Golden Gate Bridge affairs are handled.

Twenty-eight per cent of those sampled favor abolishing the bridge district in favor of a regional transit authority, the MCCA's current newsletter reports.

A total of 31 per cent of those questioned approved of the conduct of the bridge directors and 25 per cent indicated they would actively oppose eliminating the district.

The survey also revealed that 54 per cent felt that ferries would relieve Marin commuter traffic.

Spending practices of Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors have been criticized by Marin and San Francisco officials recently. The Legislature is considering a bill which would in part, compel the directors to obtain competitive bids on all work over $5,000.

Asked to identify the issue of most concern to them in Marin today, voters in the council's poll listed: transportation, 50 per cent; taxes, 31 per cent; schools 27 per cent; planning and conservation, 17 per cent; racial problems, 9 per cent; crime, 8 per cent; housing, 5 per cent; jobs, 4 per cent; welfare, flood control and sewers and water, each 3 per cent; cost of living, 2 per cent, and recreation, 1 per cent.

Kettenhofen Highest June Election Spender

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, overwhelmed 2-to-1 in the June 4 primary election by Peter B. Arrigoni Jr., spent more money than any other local candidate.

Kettenhofen, in a statement filed with the county elections office, said he spent $16,307. He listed contributions at the same amount, including $3,892 of his own money.

Arrigoni, in the race for the Second District seat, said he spent $14,836, and was financed by contributions totaling $14,680, including $300 of his own.

BAAR SECOND

Second place in the expenses sweepstakes was taken by Louis H. (Bud) Baar in the Fourth District, where he came in second and faces a runoff in the Nov. 5 general election against Supervisor Thomas T. Storer. Baar said he spent $15,476, and took in contributions totaling $16,746 — the highest figure in the contributions column.

Storer reported $4,710 in expenses and $4,822 in contributions.

Also in the Fourth District, Michael H. Healy reported $262 in expenses, all paid by himself. Richard I. Lynch, the other losing candidate in the Fourth District, did not file a statement.

STATE CODE

The state elections code requires all candidates to file statements of their expenses and contributions. There is no penalty for failure to file, but to run in future elections candidates who fail to file must go to court to explain why they did not.

The fourth higest spender was Michael Wornum, the top vote getter in the Third District. He reported $12,976 in expenses and contributions in the same amount, including $6,021 of his own money.

After Wornum and Kettenhofen, the next largest personal contribution by a candidate was $3,655 by Margaret Acevedo in the Third District. She listed contributions, including her own, and expenses at $11,309.

Wornum's opponent in the November runoff will be Donald J. O'Leary, who reported expenses and contributions of $4,977. His contributions included $1,739 of his own.

Also in the Third District, Rev. Samuel J. Banks Jr. reported $1,064 in expenses and $1,160 in contributions, including $100 of his own. Carl Hepp reported contributions and expenses at $607, and contributed $39 himself.

Bernardino A. (Ben) Fariatti did not file a statement.

In the Seventh Assembly District Republican race, incumbent William T. Bagley reported $6,762 in expenses and $7,284 in contributions.

PATRICK GIVES

Bagley's unsuccessful opponent, Charles (Clay) Barham, reported expenses and contributions of $10,063. His former employer, ultra-conservative cosmetics tycoon William Penn Patrick, was listed as a contributor, but the amount he gave was not indicated. The election code requires only that contributors be listed by name, not by the amounts they gave.

Democrat Robert E. Mertle, uncontested in the Assembly primary, reported $308 in expenses and $36 in contributions.

The unopposed American Independent Party candidate in the Seventh Assembly District, Al R. Bionda Jr., reported $177 in expenses.

In the race for the Sixth Congressional District seat on the Democratic ticket, winner Phillip Drath listed $15,002 in expenses and $14,992 in contributions. His opponent, William W. Turner, listed expenses and contributions of $2,433, including $399 of his own money.

On the Republican ticket in the Sixth District, unopposed incumbent William S. Mailliard reported $10,705 in expenses and $11,086 in contributions, including $300 of his own.

In the First Congressional District, unopposed incumbent Republican Don H. Clausen reported $10,520 in expenses and $11,600 in contributions.

Supervisor Says ABAG A Danger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Supervisor Dorothy von Beroldingen says the Association of Bay Area Governments is "a very dangerous first step toward a super government.

"The abolition of local government could be in the making," she said yesterday. "There is no end to the amount of power it could exert."

She made the statement as the question of renewing membership in ABAG remained a controversy in San Francisco.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, who wants the city to remain in ABAG, was asked by the Board of Supervisrs to justify his request.

Henry D. Gregory, 25-year-old student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo who was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco for refusing induction into the Army, has received another continuance of his case, to Aug. 1.

Gregory was originally scheduled to make a plea June 6. The case was continued to June 27 and again to Friday when the latest continuance was granted. He is free on his own recognizance.

He was indicted after refusing to take a pre-induction physical examination at the Oakland Army Induction Center Jan. 10.

Summer-Long Conservation Display Set

An exhibit focusing on meshing conservation of human and natural resources went on display at the San Rafael Library yesterday and will continue through the summer with periodic changes.

The display, aimed at answering the title question, "What Is Our Environment?" attempts to tie in such things as civil rights with conservation of natural resources.

All of it has to be part of our heritage," said Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian.

The window at the main entrance illustrates work done by the Human Rights Commission, People Versus Racism, the Boys Club of Southern Marin and other groups.

Inside there is a display on Nicasio, "Beauty on the Brink," loaned by the Marin County Planning Department; photos by Emme Gilman, and a variety of pamphlets and magazines.

Some of the materials were loaned by the city planning department from its extensive library on all phases of planning.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said he had tried to provide materials on the sometimes forgotten areas of conservation such as population control and noise pollution.

He criticized what he called the stereotyped idea of conservation — saving a tree or a shrub.

Books on all subjects involved in the visual display will be included on a changing basis through the end of the summer, Mrs. Smith said.

Muni Drivers Get 20 Per Cent Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1,811 drivers of the city buses, streetcars and cable cars were told yesterday they will receive a 20 per cent increase in pay and fringe benefits, retroactive to July 1.

Harry Albert, assistant general manager for Civil Service in the city, said at a Civil Service Commission meeting the increases came about because of two sections of the City Charter.

One requires that drivers and conductors get as much as the highest salary paid in the nation and the other, approved by voters last year, requires that they also get the same fringe benefits as the highest provided in the country.

The drivers' hourly wages will go from $3.73 to $3.92.

Judge Tightens Muzzles On All Figures In James Earl Ray Case

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Strict new guidelines enjoining "interviews or press conferences for publicity" were handdown today by the judge who will preside in the murder trial of James Earl Ray.

Judge W. Preston Battle acted after a committee of eight attorneys reported that his previous order forbidding interviews or extra-judicial statements had been violated. The committee, named by Battle Sunday, said these violations had been committed specifically by Arthur Hanes, Ray's attorney; Shelby County Sheriff William Morris; Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Memphis Attorney Russell X. Thompson.

The order forbids anyone connected with the case, and all persons employed in the criminal courts buildings, from participating in interviews or press conferences for publicity. It enjoined them from making extra-judicial statements about the case which involve: "1. The personal belief of the declarant as to the guilt or innocence of the accused;

"2. The plans of the declarant relating to the preparation or conduct of the trial, the theory, techniques and strategy of the declarant in the preparation and trial of the case;

"3. The jurors or potential jurors who may serve;

"4. The comments of the declarant about the merits of the case and about any evidence which may be presented;

"5. The credibility of or information concerning any known or intended witnesses or the treatment, acts and attitude of the defendant, and are further enjoined from making any and all other statements which may be prejudicial to a fair trial by an impartial jury in the case, whether specified herein or not."

As for Hanes, the order mentioned statements he made "to the effect that the shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. involved a Communist conspiracy, to the effect that his client's rights were being trampled in jail, and to the effect that he, his family and servants are being threatened by 'them'."

It said the violation by Sheriff Morris came when he was quoted on "the cost and expenses for the security of the prisoner and the treatment of the prisoner, and the prisoner's demeanor and attitude while in confinement."

The order said the committee's report pointed out "that to the extent that Ramsey Clark, Attorney General of the United States, is a 'law enforcement officer' or "a lawyer participating in this case' through his staff, assistants, office associates, investigators or employees under his supervision," violated the previous order by saying for publication "that there was no evidence of a conspiracy in the shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr."

Battle named the committee after Hanes' statement charging that the assassination of King was a "Communist left-wing conspiracy."

Judge Against Cleaver Hearing

FAIRFIELD (UPI) — A Solano County judge ruled yesterday the California Adult Authority cannot conduct a parole violation hearing for Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver.

Superior Judge Raymond H. Sherwin granted a restraining order, ruling that a parole hearing would violate an earlier ruling which is in the process of appeal.

The state attorney general's office has appealed Sherwin's June 11 order freeing Cleaver. A court date has been set for Sept. 24, in San Francisco for the appeal hearing.

The black militant leader was originally given his freedom on grounds his parole was revoked because of his political activities.

San Francisco Sues Trio To Get Back Clerk's Cash

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A $329,595 damage suit was filed yesterday by the City and County of San Francisco against three men accused of fraudulently obtaining $29,595 held by the county clerk.

The suit asked for return of the money, plus 7 per cent interest, and $100,000 exemplary and punitive damages each from Thomas L. King, Robert J. Inman and Lyman H. Sanborn.

The city and county was joined as plaintiff by County Clerk Martin Mongan, who turned the the $29,595 over to Sanborn June 14.

Sanborn, a Roseville insurance man, was acting on behalf of Thomas L. King, a Walnut Creek insurance and mortgage broker. The money was being held as a deposit in a 1964 lawsuit by the state against King.

Sanborn obtained the funds from Mongan on grounds the three-year statute of limitations had run out in the case. He has subsequently denied any wrongdoing, saying his actions were legal.

The matter came to light June 20 when a deputy attorney general went to Mongan's office to collect the money, awarded to the state in the fraud suit against King.

In its suit, the city charged Sanborn was aware a court order was needed to release the funds, but made claims to the contrary to Mongan while "he well knew the said representations were false and not true."

"Said defendant Sanborn made such representations although he knew them to be false; such statements were made by him with the intention to defraud and deceive plaintiffs and to induce Mr. Mongan, county clerk of the City and County of San Francisco, while acting within the course and scope of his employment, to act in the manner herein alleged," the suit said.

San Francisco also asked for a restraining order to prevent the defendants and their agents from spending the proceeds of the $29,595, including an investment certificate held by a Sacramento bank.

James E. Kettenhofen, who goes by the name of Jamie, was wearing Ben Franklin glasses, bell-bottomed trousers, black boots, and a khaki coat when last seen. He has hazel eyes and shoulder-length, wavy brown hair, according to police.

The Kettenhofens live at 78 Alta Vista Way, San Anselmo.

SEAMLESS MINI BY CARDIN

Cameras click in Paris as a model from Pierre Cardin's fashion house shows his moulded, seamless mini dress of stretch synthetic. Three D as the dress is called, is part of the couturier's collection for fall. It is worn with long boots and matching gloves. (AP Wirephoto)

STYLES OF FUTURE?

Models Therese and Gilles wear two outfits from Pierre Cardin's fall and winter collection in Paris. At left Therese wears a black felt chausable over a tortoise neck pullover in white wool. Long boots and a black leather helmet finish the outfit. Gilles is attired in a black leather overall with large zips on the front and sleeves, embellished with strips of silver. (UPI Cablephoto)

THREE dimensional creations of a new synthetic fabric, uncrushable, with raised designs were newsworthy in the Cardin collection, here shown for evening wear.

Political Protest High Style

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—Paris designers have stopped just short of making the "birthday suit" high fashion. Perhaps the only thing stopping them is that it would make their work obsolete.

Young Yves St. Laurent came about as close as he could today to nudity—he showed a woman's transparent trouser suit worn over nothing at all and saved from scandal by a built-in black feather loincloth.

The newest step towards nudity, however, was only a sort of by-the-way comment on the passing scene. St. Laurent's main statement was a huge social, political protest that seemed to concentrate on the Vietnam war.

The designer is obviously an unhappy, angry young man who wants to involve the women he dressed in politics as much as in fashion.

He dressed most of his mannequins in mourning black and fastened the sort of symbolic black mourning bands around their foreheads that some anti-war demonstrators wear.

For relief he sometimes used American Indians as his inspiration, but often they were black fringes and braids used in a sober way that Hiawatha never would have recognized.

But despite its gloomy colors, most fashion writers clearly considered it a brilliant collection.

The bravos and cheers echoed from the high ceiling of the salon when the bride, which traditionally ends each haute couture collection, walked out in an adaptation of the traditional Vietnamese dress carrying a huge lighted candle and wearing a white lily symbolizing death in her severe hairdo.

But some writers, particularly older ones, changed their tune once outside the door.

"Who can wear that kind of grey or all that black?" said one.

"It would make you look 10 years older," said another.

The truth of the collection is that it was meant for today's serious young women who don't need bright colors to make them look beautiful.

St. Laurent was already well on the way to discovering this fact with his last collection. His dark, almost severe navy and black jackets over dark silk dresses were an immediate hit with young beauties like France's top box office attraction, Catherine Deneuve.

Those jackets and dresses are back again this season, darker than ever. They represent not only St. Laurent's idea that these sober times call for somber fashions but that clothes should evolve from year to year rather than change completely twice a year.

Marin Women

Marin Is Like Home To Colonel's Wife

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Coming to Hamilton Air Force Base was like coming home, says the wife of the new commander of the 78th Fighter Wing, Col. Donald H. Lynch, now at Hamilton.

Mrs. Lynch, born in Aberdeen, Wash., moved to Palo Alto with her parents as an infant and she attended Castelleja and Palo Alto High Schools. Her mother, Mrs. Phyllis Fout, now lives in San Francisco.

Constance, or Connie as she is known to her friends, was graduated from Oregon State University in Corvallis, where she majored in home economics. However, she never used her education professionally, as she says, "a lieutenant stationed at Moffet Field hove across my horizon in 1940 and we were married in 1942."

Since their marriage moving has become second nature to Mrs. Lynch as they have lived in Japan, Europe, Washington, D. C., Arizona, Florida and Oregon. Their most recent assignment was Elmendorf Air Force Base in Anchorage, Alaska, where they lived by the clock, when in winter there was 18 to 19 hours of darkness, she said.

On a recent afternoon Mrs. Lynch sat and talked in her living room, which she is redecorating. "We have made so many moves that I decided to purchase all new furniture for this room," she said. Attractively done in off-white with accents of orange and buttercup yellow, it is combined with oriental tables and ginger jar lamps.

Taking up a good share of her chair was Ricky, the family dachshund, who weighs 40 pounds, is 7½ years old and set in his ways, Mrs. Lynch said.

Suntanned and slender, Mrs. Lynch says people usually ask her if she golfs, swims or skiis, but she admits she does none of these. "I like to relax on the couch and read spy and suspense stories, and I love to play bridge," she explains.

"People are my hobby," says the new commander's wife. "I like working with people. I've enjoyed every place we have gone and been very happy in the service, even when we lived in a trailer in France," she said.

She is a Grey Lady with the Red Cross, works with family services, and as wife of the wing commander, she is an advisor to the Officers Wives Club board and president of the board of the thrift shop.

Colonel and Mrs. Lynch have one daughter, Donna, who is a stewardess with her base in San Francisco. Mrs. Lynch was looking forward to a five day visit with her daughter and two stewardess friends that are coming to Hamilton.

Connie likes to entertain at her home at small dinner parties and at Sunday brunches. Her two favorite cookbooks are by Rene Verdon and Julia Childs.

As Connie Lynch walked out into the front garden, she stopped and looked out over the flight line and said, "I'm happy seeing the planes out there. People ask me if the noise bothers me and I tell them, don't knock it. That's security."

RELAXING in the living room at her new home at Hamilton Air Force Base is Mrs. Donald Lynch, wife of Colonel Lynch, new commander of the 78th Fighter Wing. The tour at Hamilton is like coming home for Mrs. Lynch, who spent most of her years before her marriage in Palo Alto and whose mother lives in San Francisco. Also relaxing is Ricky, the 40 pound family pet. (Independent-Journal photo)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Psychology Course Points Up Need For More Understanding

DEAR HELEN:

After reading "Tired of It's" complaint about how teens are treated by sales clerks, I thought you might be interested in a project we did for a psychology course at college.

My friend and I are both 22, but he looks older and I look much younger. For one month we patronized, individually, the same stores and restaurants. He wore a business suit, and I dressed neatly in a high school letter sweater and clean school-type pants.

That was the only difference between us. We both made a point of being polite and agreeable.

But the difference in how we were treated was amazing.

Except for the usual occasional rudeness, my friend had no trouble. People called him sir or mister.

I was addressed as Sonny or "Hey, kid." At crowded counters I was passed over for adults who had come in after I did. If the clerks didn't ignore me, they talked down to me. Middle-aged salesladies rumpled my hair and scolded me for smoking, or advised me to correct my posture, gain wait, get a haircut, all in very patronizing tones. One woman disliked a shirt I picked out and asked if I had my mother's approval to buy it.

At a dinner where my friend Pete, (the adult) had sent a hamburger back for being too rare, I was told to "eat it and like it." When I persisted politely, I was refused service.

At a stationery store where Pete had read magazines from the rack for 30 minutes, I was told after less than five to "buy something or get out."

I'll grant we set some of these situations up, but the examples are endless, and not just with sales clerks. One night I stood on a well lighted street corner for 20 minutes and got shoved against a wall by a policeman, asked for identification and closely questioned. Three nights later Pete stood there for over an hour and was ignored by the same officer.

The only difference in all these situations was that people thought Pete as an adult and me as a teen-ager. Having been a "teen-ager" again for a month, I can understand pretty well why "Tired of It" is tired of it!

ROB

DEAR ROB:

Your letter should be required reading for all people who deal with teens—and this means all of us.

When we give them the respect due young adults, we get respect in return, and that's the best kind of calking for the generation gap.

H.

DEAR HELEN:

My girl dated this guy for two and one-half years. Now she has broken up with him to go with me. I know that if she stayed with him this long, she must have been pretty close to him. I've asked her how close, and she won't tell me. She says what's past is past, and I shouldn't expect her to reveal her love life or lack of it.

I wouldn't hold it against her, but I want to know. Don't I have a right to hear what went on between them?

JUST CURIOUS

DEAR J. C.:

You certainly don't. Forget this girl's past before you ruin your future with her.

Noise Is A Hazard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Calling noise a nuisance is like calling smog an inconvenience," Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the U.S. Public Health Service said at opening sessions of the first National Conference on Noise as a health hazard.

"Noise must be considered a hazard to the health of people everywhere," he said. Stewart pointed out that many people made the mistake of trying to endure rather than trying to eliminate smog for years because they did not realize the danger to health air pollution posed. Noise, it was stated, is now being shielded by a similar cloak of indifference.

Grocers Like To Sell Briquets

The sky is the limit on hospitality and family fun wherever there is a charcoal grill. This appears to be the theme song of cook-out fans in 1968.

It also is obvious to the Barbecue Briquet Institute that all sales records by its members will be broken this year. The institute prediction is for sales approximating 450,000 tons of briquets by the industry in 1968.

The represents 90 million 10-pound bags or 15 pounds of barbecue briquets for each of the 60 million American households.

A decade ago, consumption of briquets was only one half of that total. Several factors are responsible for the increased use of briquets. New family household formations is one reason. Almost half of America's population today is under 26 years of age. Charcoal cookery, with easy-to-use briquets and economical menus, is a way of life with them.

Another reason for the increased use of barbecue briquets is the trend to year-round barbecuing. Roughly, 10 per cent of all families now grill indoors. Manufacturers recognize this trend by offering built-in charcoal grills for the kitchen, kettles and swingout fireplace grills and conventional hibachis for those who practice "wintercuing."

Leading food chains also stock barbecue briquets the year around, because a survey shows that every bag of briquets sold results in the sale of $3.34 of non-staple items, such as sauces, herbs, lighter fluid, etc.

But, summertime is still the peak of the barbecuing season. If you have any doubts, just look at the barbecue displays inside and out of your favorite grocery store.

French Sniffing At Lighter Scents

By VEATA LEVY

PARIS — France's $500 million a year perfume industry, as vital and as sound as it ever was, is having to adjust its outlook to adapt itself to changes in social habits.

Perfume, once for the rich woman only, has become within the reach of most European pockets. But modern women prefer the lighter varieties of good toilet water and eau de cologne, which restricts the market for the headier scents.

The French industry has two nerve centers. One is in the ancient city of Grasse, in the south, where 20 factory-laboratories are located; the other is in the Paris region where there are a number of modern plants.

Grasse processes the oil of local flora such as lavender, jasmin, orange blossom and the May rose, and blends the extract with imported essences of animal origin like musk deer, whale and Canadian beaver.

A THIRD element, derived from organic chemistry is added to the natural essences and becomes the final raw material, which, dilutes with alcohol, is made up into different brands.

The Grasse industry exports half of its production; it is the basis of all perfume, eau de cologne, toilet water, perfumed soaps, bath oil, hairspray and other perfumed cosmetics.

The structure of the perfume industry outside Grasse—which statistically also includes beauty products—is dominated by 10 companies employes 500 workers each. The remainder, totalling 350, are of much smaller size. Some old-established firms like the 200-year-old Guerlain continue a perfume which has been popular for almost a century, like Jicky, first launched in 1889.

A SCENT may sell well for decades, or inexplicably, enjoy only an ephemeral success. The great names in perfume are the ones which resist the passing of years like Chanel's No. 5, a perennial best-seller, closely followed by Joy, with Patou's surprising byline "the most expensive in the world;" L'Heure Bleue most popular in Britain and the commonwealth; Diorama, beloved in Scandinavia, or Mitsuoko, much in demand in France, Germany and in Japan where its name has a familiar ring.

The largest single firm in the field is Christian Dior of Paris and New York which has an annual turnover of about $16.8 million of which two-thirds are exported.

ONLY THE top luxury brands export with any success, since the cost of air freight is high.

Tax and customs duties vary from one country to another and can make the imported product extremely dear thus rendering a lower quality perfume uncompetitive in countries like Sweden and Mexico. To overcome this handicap manufacturers of the cheaper brands which must aim at a mass market prefer to set up a factory abroad or come to a manufacturing agreement with a local pharmaceutical laboratory. Only the rare essences, bottles and wrappings are shipped out while frequent checks take place to ensure that the secret formula is safeguarded and respected.

THE IMAGE of perfume is associated with luxury, and luxury, in this case means restricted sales. The five top names in perfume, Dior, Chanel, Guerlain, Patou and Lanvin, all practice a policy of restricted sales, with Guerlain being an extreme example of exclusiveness since its products in Paris, for instance, are obtainable only in the company's four shops.

It is improbable that manufacturers will be able to maintain their restricted sales policy and survive. The trend is towards greater diversification, and many firms have already entered the beauty product market. French department stores are in the habit of leasing individual stands to a firm, and those offering a wider range of products make a better showing. Even a firm like Guerlain now sells cosmetics though still in its own stores only.

Shopping in the Village with Pat Reynolds

This mid-summertime finds many July clearance sales still going on in The Village. Also, for early back-to-school shoppers, the newest in fall merchandise is being unpacked daily. For your shopping convenience, Village shops are open Wednesday evenings.

RANCHO RAVIRI, specializing in all sorts of almond confections, also offers many gift items. Among these are good-looking, hand-blown glass canisters and candy dishes. The canisters, in a choice of four colors, have a handsome teak top with cork seal. Another gift item that is great fun is horseshoe nail sport figurines from Spain. They stand about 4 inches tall on a wooden base and would make a most unusual gift.

More and more Marin hostesses are discovering the joy of entertaining at KUBLAI KHAN. This attractive restaurant welcomes small parties with excellent service, a fine Oriental and Continental menu and perfectly lovely table appointments. The tranquil atmosphere here is most conducive to quiet talk and very enjoyable dining.

Summer seamstresses know the time has come to start on fall outfits. K. MYERS FABRICS knows this too and is ready with lots of appropriate fall fabrics. For the back-to-school crowd, they offer crisp dark cottons that are just right for our warm Indian Summer. There is also a fine selection of velvets, velveteens and suede cloth (the latter in a wide range of colors).

At the VILLAGE SWEET SHOPPE (formerly, Edy's) I found many candies that would travel well during the summer. There is a delightful Blum's mixture, Hooper's Hostess Mints and many pectin jellies. Among the latter, are low-calorie jellies for those who must keep their sweet tooth in touch with their waistline. These are not dietetic candies but boast only 6 calories each. If you are a calorie counter (hi, honey) you know that is almost too good to be true.

If summertime travel plans include the family Fido, be sure he has a non-spill water dish from MUTTS OF MARIN. Our Lisa loves to take a ride, even if it's only to the grocery store, and I like knowing she can always have water on hot summer days. For traveling longer distances, see the canine sleeping bags at MUTTS OF MARIN!

Informal, outdoor entertaining seems part of a Marin summer and VILLAGE LIQUORS stands ready with the appropriate libations. For casual gatherings they suggest their popular tapper size keg of beer. Should the occasion call for something a bit more festive, VILLAGE LIQUORS carries a really outstanding selections of wines and champagnes. Cheers!

Summertime often means unexpected guests to be fed and I've found a way to really impress them. Beefsteak, Beer And Bowie Knife At Vietnam 'I Do's'

By JOHN LENGEL

CHU LAI, Vietnam (AP) — The wedding cake was cut with a Bowie knife right out of the scabbard of a helicopter crewman, the ice cream was scooped with a jungle survival tool —and the bride outranked the groom.

This was the wedding Saturday of CWO Don Sewell, 22, of San Antonio, Tex., a medical evacuation helicopter pilot who had just won the Silver Star, and Capt. Patricia Mann, 24, of Washington, D.C. an Army nurse at the 2nd Surgical Hospital here.

Sewell won his medal for rescuing wounded GIs from a landing zone he had no business going into because of intense groundfire and for rescuing his roommate twice after he had been shot down.

But on this day, war was something else again.

PFC. LANNY DAVIS of Camden, S.C., and his group from the American Division band played "Tenderly" at the reception.

Sgt. 1.C. Carmello Arrias of Medford, Mass., presided over a charcoal grill with 200 pounds of beefsteak and lobster tails. There was plenty of beer and champagne.

The bride wore a chiffon and satin affair her friends had arranged for in Hong Kong during a rest and recuperation leave.

And the couple retired happily to a brick, air conditioned home, with stereo, overlooking the South China Sea.

It was probably one of only a half dozen marriages between U.S. servicemen and servicewomen in Vietnam during the war.

It was a wonderful affair.

THE COUPLE met six months ago. Sewell was tending bar during a party celebrating the promotion of a fellow officer in the 54th Detachment, Helicopter Ambulance Group.

Sewell said, "She had a date with a doctor that night. I just sort of watched her."

They met the next night—remember Sewell is one of about 10,000 men at Chu Lai and Pat one of 20 nurses—at an officer's club party.

Sewell asked her for a date the next night.

"We went to a movie," said Pat. "We talked all the way through it."

There were other dates, conversation over drinks at the officer's club, and he would see her in the distance at the hospital as he brought casualties in from a battle.

TO BE MARRIED, both had to put in a No. 1049, a Personal Action Form, which meant their intentions had to be approved all the way up to Gen. Creighton Abams, the supreme commander of more than 500,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam. That took six weeks. Nobody objected, just paper pushing.

The ceremony went off in fine fashion at the Chu Lai Navy chapel.

Pat's commanding officer, a doctor, Maj. Kenneth Cass of Waterbury, Conn., gave her away. Sewell's chopper crewmen, Spec. 5 James W. Kennedy, 21, of Morton, Miss., and Spec. 4 Ron Tweed, 22, of Manitoba, Canada, were ushers.

ANOTHER NURSE, Lt. Cathy Waguespack, 24, of Raceland, La., was the bridesmaid. Maj. Patrick Brady, Sewell's commander of Seattle, Wash., was the best man. An Army Chaplain, Maj. Donald Kinney of Syracuse, N.Y., presided over the Roman Catholic service.

After the service in 105-degree heat, the wedding party tossed U.S. aid rice at the bride and groom as they tentatively stepped into a helicopter with "Just Married" papered on its snout.

CWO Norman Shanahan of Jacksonville, Fla., Sewell's rescued roommate, was at the controls.

SHANAHAN SPUN the chopper around a few times, missing the wedding party by a conservative 20 feet at 90 miles an hour with green and yellow smoke capsules streaming from the landing skids.

Sewell's buddies in the detachment had scrounged the materials and built the couple's house on a bluff overlooking the sea.

Sewell carried his bride over the threshhold and reckoned they would be seeing plenty of each other despite the war.

Both will be in Vietnam another six months. Their honeymoon —their R-and-R leaves—will begin in three days in Hong Kong. The new Mrs. Sewell intends to get out of the service. He will do the same with the intention of becoming an airline pilot.

Pat said, "Our only disappointment is that our families could not be here. Otherwise, I wouldn't have it any other way."

Insensititivy To Taste Shown By Most American Males Tested

By JOANNE OMANG

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI)—If your wife's coffee tastes like vinegar, it may actually be your taste, not the coffee, that's at fault.

Dr. Ernest Dzendolet of the University of Massachusetts psychology department says his tests show 78.5 per cent of American males must be classified "insensitive" to the four basic tastes—sweet, salty, sour and bitter—and that 28 per cent of them are completely unable to distinguish between sour things (vinegar) and bitter things (coffee).

You'd probably know the two apart anyway.

"Actual flavor is a combination of taste, odor, temperature and maybe even the way it feels," says Dr. Dzendolet. "We tested with odorless chemical solutions to eliminate those variables."

Subjects for the first of two tests were 40 female and 40 male students at UM, all nonsmokers and none taking any medication. The samples were dilute but recognizable solutions of quinine (bitter), hydrochloric acid (sour), sucrose (sweet), and table salt.

Each of the four basic tastes was presented seven times in random order for a three-to-four second sampling, with the subject to report afterward which taste it was.

Four out of seven right on any given taste earned a "sensitive" rating for that taste. Only 15 females and nine males scored sensitive on all four tastes—37.5 per cent for women and 22.5 per cent for men. The rest were insensitive on one or more tastes, especially sour and bitter.

"We thought labeling might be a problem," said Dr. Dzendolet. In a second test, 20 males and 20 females were told that a given solution was salty, sweet, sour or bitter, the first time around. In subsequent tests, however, 28 per cent of the males and 10 per cent of the females still confused sour and bitter.

"They couldn't seem to learn the difference," Dr. Dzendolet reported. "This would seem to indicate that the difficulty must be physiological in origin, rather like partial or total colorblindness. In other words, it's in the genes and not in the taste buds."

So if your wife complains that you never notice anything about her culinary efforts, comfort her with the thought that the trouble is probably in your chromosomes and not in her cooking.

Department Heads Pay Hike Voted

San Rafael councilmen, meeting last night to discuss the 1968-69 budget, approved 7.5 per cent salary hikes for department heads and allocated $187,250 for capital improvements.

There was also discussion of a possible 4-cent cut in the tax rate for 1968-69 from 90 to 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The councilmen also agreed that in the future, salary steps and ranges would be set in late December or early January after an annual survey in order to avoid having to deal with these questions during budget discussions in the summer, at which time the council could take up the less complex matter of across-the-board salary scale increases.

In its review last night, the councilmen found themselves in general agreement on all matters. Mayor Paul C. Bettini was absent.

Under consideration was a proposed $4,111,595 budget for 1968-69, up 9.6 per cent from last year's $3,748,570.

The department head salary hike was in line with 7.5 per cent raises granted July 17 to other city employees except for policemen and firemen who received 10 per cent increases.

It raised the salary of City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson from $20,000 to $21,500; Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles from $15,876 to $17,067; Fire Chief Vance Trivett, $14,556 to $15,648; Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, $13,860 to $14,899; Building Inspector Jack Coates, $12,90 and Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder, $11,592 to $12,461.

Head Librarian Vivian Smith was granted an additional $1,116, councilmen said, to make her salary more comparable with other department heads. The salary will climb from $9,084 to $10,915.

The increases will cost approxiately $11,000, according to McCowan.

The police chief, city clerk, city treasurer, and city attorney are elective officials whose salaries cannot be raised during their terms of office.

The $187,250 allocated out of a $342,000 fund for capital improvements left $154,750 which can be spent on other capital improvements or carried over to the next fiscal year.

Major projects include $50,000 for Bret Harte storm drains, $50,000 for sewer replacement on Fifth Avenue from J to K streets, K from Fifth to Forbes Avenue and Center Street from K to J; $15,000 for relocating sewers near Claude, Clinton and Tamalpais avenues and Highway 101; $10,000 for a study of storm drain needs, $25,750 for fire department water mains and alarm boxes, and $20,000 to a fund for a new community recreation center.

Councilman Louis H. Baar suggested a possible 4-cent tax cut, noting a 5.1 per cent increase in the assessment roll forecast by the county in May and an 8.3 per cent increase announced last week.

The council granted library employees raises increasing the total for library salaries from $72,932 last year to $87,452.

Approval was given to a salary schedule negotiated among the city manager, library board and head librarian because library employees are not currently classified into steps and ranges. This will change in December, councilmen agreed.

Individual library employees generally received better than 7.5 per cent raises, McGowan said, because it was felt their salaries had lagged behind those of library employees in comparable jurisdictions.

No action was taken last night on these matters which are to be formally approved at a regular council meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Approval of a final budget and setting of a tax rate is expected in late August.

Shakespeareans Will Premier 'Errors' Friday

The Marin Shakespeare Festival will give its first 1968 performance of "Comedy of Errors" and will hold tryouts for its high school scene workshop this weekend at Forest Meadows Theater, San Rafael.

"Comedy of Errors" was to have premiered Friday, but the death of actor Richard Willis in an auto accident after the opening of Antony and Cleopatra" July 20 caused the performance to be postponed a week. The play, Shakespeare's first comedy, will be performed Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

"Macbeth" will be performed tomorrow and "Antony and Cleopatra" Thursday at the same time.

High school students interested in the workshop should be prepared Sunday at 2 p.m. to read approximately 20 lines from any Shakespearean play, according to John Brebner, executive director of the festival. The course will include a public performance Sept. 1.

Marin Art At Mendocino Fair

The 10th annual Mendocino Art Fair Friday through Sunday at the Mendocino Art Center will feature the work of several Marin artists.

Among the local artists exhibiting at the fair will be potter Sue Cope of Mill Valley, San Rafael watercolorist and tapestry designer Ethel Adnan, jeweler Grace Abbett of the Marin Society of Artists and former College of Marin students Jim Bertram, painter in oil acrylics and ink, and potter and sculptor Ronald Blett.

The fair will also feature an international children's art show arranged by Altheya Youngman of Sausalito.

ACT Nearing Funds Goal; Time Short

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The financially troubled American Conservatory Theatre collected $54,000 in pledges during a four and one-half hour telethon which ended early today.

The pledges brought the repertory company to within $25,000 of the amount needed by tomorrow to keep it from folding.

"We're tremendously encouraged," said William Bushnell, the company's business manager. But ACT must still raise $25,000 in the next 48 hours if it is to complete its current season and return next year."

Members of the company performed scenes from 12 productions during the telecast from the stage of the Geary Theatre. They were joined by musical comedy star Robert Preston and actor-director Ellis Rabb of the A.P.A. company.

St. Columba's Feast Saturday

An all-day Sea and Land Feast will be held Saturday on the grounds of St. Columba's Episcopal Church, Inverness.

Dinner will be served from 4 to 8 p.m. with the menu including oysters on the half shell, oyster casserole, oyster stew, clam chowders, chicken, salads, assorted desserts and beverage.

During the day, activities will include time on Drake's Beach, hiking on the Bear Valley trails on Point Reyes National Seashore and watching the second annual Hog Island Marathon for El Torros, sponsored by the Inverness Yacht Club on Tomales Bay, a few blocks from the church.

Ex-Novato Boys Hurt In Crash

Mark Reed, 13, and Bret Reed, 10 — former Novato residents who were listed in critical condition after an auto crash north of Redding Thursday that killed their brother, Michael, 12, and their stepfather and stepsister — were reported in satisfactory condition today at a Mercy hospital in Redding.

Both boys were observed for possible head injuries, but the hospital reported that neither showed evidence of such injuries. Both sustained multiple cuts, scrapes and bruises and Mark suffered a chest injury as well.

The boys' home is with their mother, Mrs. Viola Long, in Grant's Pass, Ore. Their father, Raymond T. Reed, lives in Novato.

'Free Huey' Sign Ruffles Belvedere

Citizen Claims Officials Persecuting Him Over It

By ALAN JONES

The Huey P. Newton murder trial, which has created a furor in Oakland, has found an echo in Belvedere, where a pro-Newton resident has complained of harassment by the city and its police.

Newton, a Black Panther leader, is charged with killing an Oakland ploceman.

The Belvedere resident, Roderick Garrett, believes the city is harassing him because he posted a sign on his lawn demanding "Free Huey Now."

City officials say they're only enforcing city ordinances.

Garrett, of 329 San Rafael Avenue, had two signs in his yard. "A Drath for Congress" sign has been there since February with no complaints or city action. Two weeks ago, Garrett put up the Huey sign.

Last Friday, according to Garrett and neighbors reached by telephone, the Garretts became the first residents in recent memory ordered to remove their car from the street because of the city's 24-hour parking limit.

Later the same day, a policeman came around and ordered the Drath and Huey signs removed because they violated the city sign ordinance. Garrett's son took down the signs, but Garrett put them back up when he returned Friday night.

They stood until Saturday night. Someone removed the Huey sign while the family was out to dinner.

And at 5 a.m. yesterday, Garrett said, a police car came by and ticketed their car for overparking. He admitted the car was overparked, but said no one ever enforced the ordinance because nearly all Belvedere residents need on-street parking.

"They claim these laws have been on the books for 15 years," Garrett said, "but it's funny that all this has been happening to us within a few hours."

"This to me is a matter of free speech and a right to politick," Garrett said. The sign ordinance was not intended to curtail political sentiment, he said.

He also pointed out that many political signs were seen all over Belvedere during campaigns in April and June.

Garrett turned the case over to his attorney yesterday for a test of the sign ordinance — in or out of court.

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli and Police Chief William S. Woodington denied harassment.

There is "absolutely no connection" between the parking ticket and the signs, Cavalli said.

He said a city councilman spotted Garrett's signs and asked Cavalli if they were legal under the city ordinance. Cavalli declined to name the councilman.

Belvedere's sign ordinance specifies types of signs allowed in certain districts. It does not specifically allow political signs in residential districts, so the Drath sign and possibly the Huey sign would be illegal.

Garrett's attorney, Robert MacReadie, said the question now is whether the ordinance is constitutional.

A check by telephone of other San Rafael Avenue residents indicated that not only had they never received parking tickets, they were unaware of the 24-hour limit.

Woodington said "we try to be lenient" about the ordinance because the city has a parking problem. But when cars "sit there apparently abandoned," a citation is the "only way to get rid of them," he said.

He said the Garretts had ample warning about parking. Police had to move the car Wednesday, he said, to make room for a paving project. On completion of the paving, police offered to return the car to its original spot but Mrs. Garrett declined the offer, Woodington said.

At that time, Woodington said he advised her of the 24-hour limit. The car was still in the same spot yesterday morning.

Woodington said that the police had not removed the "Free Huey" sign, because it is on private property.

Cavalli said city crews had removed many political signs during earlier campaigns, but "I don't recall we've pulled signs off private property." The city did not remove Garrett's sign, he said.

Pending advice from the city attorney, or a settlement of the sign dispute, Cavalli said he has made no further move to have the remaining sign removed. "I don't want to try to pick on anybody," he said.

Yesterday, Garrett replaced the stolen poster with a crudely lettered "Free Huey Now" sign. Today, it still stood beside the presumably less controversial "Drath for Congress" sign.

CONTROVERSIAL SIGN — The Roderick Garrets' Volkswagen sports the latest in a series of parking tickets, which they claim is police reprisal for the "Free Huey Now" sign at their Belvedere home on San Rafael Avenue. Mrs. Garrett today sail she has lived there for 17 years, had the Volkswagen since 1958 and never was ticketed until the pro-Newton sign went up. Their's was the only vehicle parked in the block today with a ticket. (Independent-Journal photo by Pete Thompson)

Herrera Sobs In Quiz By Own Attorney

Joaquin Antonio Herrera broke into sobs on the witness stand today as he tried to explain his decision to become the protector of 15-year-old Kathy Bloomer, who later became his wife.

Herrera is on trial in Marin Superior Court for the Jan. 9 slaying in San Rafael of Ronald Lee Washburn, who according to Herrera had forced Kathy into sex acts early in 1966.

Herrera, harried by questioning from his own attorney Harold J. Truett, fell silent as Truett repeatedly asked why he made himself Kathy's protector. He finally broke into sobs and said, "She needed protection, Mr. Truett."

"What made you think you could do that?" Truett asked.

"If I answer that one way, you will say I'm lying. If I answer it another, you say I'm crazy," Herrera answered.

Pressed on the question, Herrera, still crying, finally said "I don't know."

Herrera earlier testifed that a Mike Overstreet had forced Kathy into sex acts and later wrote her a letter early in 1967 threatening her with death if she did not become a prostitute for him.

Truett ended his questioning of Herrera after he broke down, and Judge Joseph G. Wilson recessed court before cross-examination, which was expected to take the rest of the day.

Richardson Bay Special Case Urged

Can Marin County convince the Bay Conservation and Development Commission that Richardson Bay is uniquely suited for development?

That was the central question today at a meeting of the board of supervisors and the county planning commission on the BCDC plan to preserve San Francisco Bay.

The county has long sought to clean up the Richardson Bay waterfront and is working with property owners on commercial development plans.

The plans call for moderate filling of the offshore area, but BCDC, in its preliminary report on recommended uses of San Francisco Bay, stresses more limited area filling.

This would be for development of shipping ports, airports, shoreline parks and other public recreational uses, the BCDC plan says.

But several of the supervisors and planning commissioners said today BCDC should be urged to consider Richardson Bay as a special case.

"We're different from other counties," said Supervisor John F. McInnis. "Development came late to Marin. There is no industry base.

"I think we can show we have a unique situation here. We cannot take our plans to BCDC as a mere planning matter. We must present them as a true and desirable development for this side of the bay."

McInnis asked formation of a special committee of planning commissioners, county staff and property owners to sell a development plan to BCDC.

The supervisors and the planning commission have been shown plans by at least one Richardson Bay property owner for a development that would include a convention center and an 800-room hotel.

Ernest N. Kettenhofen, chairman of the board of supervisors, and planning commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. wondered whether BCDC had neglected the economic benefits of the bay in its desire to preserve aesthetics.

But Supervisor Peter H. Behr pointed out it was the goal of BCDC to set strict guidelines for development because of the natural dangers of bay shrinkage.

The group noted that the widespread prohibition of fill would mean that spoils from proposed dredging of Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay would have to be dumped at sea. The group wondered whether this might make the dredging project too costly.

Discussion of the BCDC plan will continue at the civic center as the county prepares to present formal reaction to the BCDC plan. The planning commission discussed it yesterday and plans to take it up again at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Civic Center.

At 8 p.m. tomorrow, county and city representatives will discuss the plan further in the supervisors' chambers.

College Board Sets Closed Talks On Settling Ramstad Contract

Marin Junior College District trustees will seek legal advice in a closed session Thursday as to whether they are stuck with a four-year contract they signed with William K. Ramstad, former college of Marin president.

The closed meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in Room G-1 of the physical education complex on the Kentfield campus.

Ramstad, who quit as president in April after the faculty called for his resignation, was hired in March, 1967, with a four-year contract. His salary and expenses paid this year have been $26,100.

He has continued on the college payroll since July 1 when his resignation became effective. According to college spokesmen, he is engaged in a research project of studying other junior colleges which have more than one campus.

In this project, which is expected to be finished soon, he has spent most of the month traveling throughout the state, officials said.

Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, said that the trustees wish to get advice from him on whether or not they have to carry out the terms of the contract.

Board Vice President Robert E. Oliver will preside at the session in the absence of President Theodore C. Wellman, who is on vacation. Oliver said that Ramstad will not be present at the closed session.

At the board's regular meeting, which will follow at 8 p.m., a public hearing on the adoption of a $4,752,988 budget for 1968-69 will be held.

Novato Review Set On Telephone Sign

A special meeting of the Novato Plan Review Committee to consider a sign for Western California Telephone Co. has been called for 8:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Novato City Hall, by committee Chairman Eugene McGillicuddy.

The telephone company is requesting a free-standing sign one foot, six inches by eight feet, six inches and two feet in height for its building at 1450 Grant Avenue, according to McGillicuddy.

Sewer Board Asks MMWD Takeover

In an unprecedented move, Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors last night voted to ask the Marin Municipal Water District to take over the district's operations.

The vote instructing Board Secretary Gustaf F. Wolf, to approach the water district with the proposal was unanimous. Board Chairman Warren I. Jacobs reported. Two of the five board members, James G. MacNichols and Robert E. Swendemen, were absent.

Jacobs said Wolf will report to the board on Aug. 26 on the necessary legal steps for such a move.

FOLLOWS REPORT

The board's surprise vote came on the heels of a vote to endorse a recommendation in the Brown and Caldwell report on county sewer needs that the Marin Municipal Water District assume the sewer operations for all of Southern Marin.

The Homestead district board is the first local agency to initiate such action following the issuance of the Brown and Caldwell report. The county board of supervisors has taken no action on the report yet.

An alternative recommendation by Brown and Caldwell that a Southern Marin sanitary district be organized was not endorsed by the board, Jacobs said.

"Since we have gone on record as supporting eventual control by the water district there was no use in dallying about the matter," Jacobs said. "Our request to have them take over the district is a logical extension of our endorsement."

FIRST STEPS

Before the water deistrict can assume sewer operations for Homestead Valley, the move must be approved by a vote of district residents, Jacobs said.

He added that the board will hold several public hearings before any final vote is taken. "It will be a long process," Jacobs warned. "But there is no use of delaying any more."

The water district has never in the past been involved in sanitary sewer operations nor has any sanitary district in its area of operation ever asked the water district to assume this operation.

In other action, the board approved $24,295 budget for fiscal 1968-69, an increase of $3,525 over last year's budget.

The budget will require a tax rate of 36 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a 1.5-cent decrease from the 1967-68 rate, Jacobs said.

He said a $2,000 increase in sewer connections revenues and an increase in property assessments caused the tax rate cut. The 36-cent rate will raise approximately $18,295 in property tax revenues, he said. Last year's 37.5 cent rate raised $18,770 in property taxes.

In addition, district residents will no longer pay a 10-cent bond redemption tax, Jacobs noted, because the district's bonds were paid off this past year.

The budget allocations include $600 for salaries, $14,000 for capital outlay, operations and maintenance of the Mill Valley treatment plant; $3,000 for general district maintenance; $2,000 for improvement; $1,695 for expenses, and $3,000 for new construction. In addition, the district has $7,413 in reserve funds as of June 30, Jacobs said.

The next board meeting will be at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 26 at Homestead School.

Redwood High Campus Will Be Closed

Redwood High School will continue to be a "closed campus" — at least for the time being.

Larkspur city councman, police and parents who have objected to an open campus policy proposed by Principal Donald Kreps won a brief respite today as Tamalpais High School District Supt. Chester G. Carlisle announced that the school will start in the fall as a closed campus.

"There is not time between now and the opening of school for discussions to be held about an open campus or to educate the public about the benefits of such a policy," Carlisle said.

The Larkspur City Council had requested a joint meeting with the high school district trustees to thrash out the matter, but Carlisle said that it was difficult to arrange such a meeting because of vacations.

"We will take up the open campus policy again in the fall when all concerned are available for discussion," Carlisle said.

Larkspur police chief Howard Clark has objected to an open campus, saying that allowing youngsters to leave the school during a 35-minute lunch period and other free periods would encourage speeding and make it difficult to keep nonstudents away from the school.

Redwood has had a closed policy since its opening, while Sir Francis Drake High School has always been open. The third high school in the district, Tamalpais, was open but officials closed it a couple of years ago after complaints by neighbors and noontime fights.

Deeper Reason Behind Missile Site Opposition

A notable lack of enthusiasm has been generated in Southern Marin by prospects for location of an anti-missile missile base on Angel Island or Wolfback Ridge.

Offhand, this seems surprising. The base at either location would not obtrude unduly on the senses. It would entail minimal disruption of the natural setting. Its payroll of 200 to 300 civilian employees would be equivalent to location of a major industry in Marin, with its 400 military personnel giving another boost to the economy.

Only public agency faced with necessity for providing new services because of the installation would be the Sausalito or Reed School District, depending on which location were chosen.

YET THE MILL VALLEY City Council and Planning Commission, the Sausalito City Council and Planning Commission, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the Marin Conservation League have come out against both sites. The Belvedere Planning Commission has opposed the Angel Island location.

So far, the only voice raised in behalf of the proposal has been that of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, which successfully persuaded the Tiburon City Council to hold back on opposing an Angel Island choice, citing the potential payroll.

The resolutions of opposition have cited "intrusion of the military into the environment" and loss of recreational acreage in Angel Island State Park or in the proposed Marin Headlands State Park.

DISCUSSION at the various councils and commissions, however, has made it evident that these are not the sole reasons for opposition. Behind them lies another: the fear of proliferation of nuclear weapons leading to a world holocaust.

There is an irony in the Defense Department's seeking sites for launching anti-missile missiles — which would have nuclear warheads — at the very time that the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. sign a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and agree to talks on disarmament.

The same irony was manifest in the plan for the "thin" anti-missile protective screen, as the Independent-Journal pointed out editorially when it was announced last September by then-Defense Secy. Robert S. McNamara. He contended that a missile defense system capable of protecting all major U.S. cities against Russian missiles would provoke a new round in the arms race, but advocated the "thin" umbrella ostensibly to protect only against Chinese missiles. He ignored the obvious fact that arming against one potential enemy is bound to bring response from another.

The anti-missile missiles would be "protective" only; they would have but a 30-mile range. But the limits of their protection would invite any nation with designs against the U.S. to arm sufficently to negate them. It is the old and perilous spiral.

BUT IF IT IS doubletalk for the United States to plan more nuclear missile installations while signing nuclear non-proliferation treaties, it is also double talk for the cities of Mill Valley and Sausalito and other objectors to issue resolutions talking about impact on the environment and interference with recreation while they really are objecting to a national policy.

The proposed base would interfere little with Marin. It would help Marin's economy. If it is opposed, those opposing it should state their reasons honestly.

Goldfinches

Goldfinches are quick, restless, little birds. They are sometimes called wild canaries because of their greenish-yellow color and the resemblance of their song to the melodious warbling of the caged bird. They sing with ecstasy and abandon, perched and on the wing.

Most Marin birdwatchers have a special fondness for this high-spirited, sweet-singing, gentle little bird.

The Pacific Coast variation of the goldfinch, that is the Marin variety, is considerably greener than its eastern cousin, which makes it difficult to spot as it flies through the sun-spangled trees.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Proposed Compact Could Avert Election Of Minority President

WASHINGTON — There could hardly be a worse political calamity for the United States than to end up next January with a President who failed to get the highest popular vote.

This is increasingly threatened because George Wallace's third-party strength could prevent either major candidate from getting an electoral majority, throwing the election into the House were anything could happen.

It is an ominous potential.

But it can be averted. It is in the power of two individuals to do it — the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees.

By themselves they can guarantee that the worst won't happen. If there is no electoral majority, all they have to do is to affirm in advance that the only decision they will accept is the election in the House of the candidate who received the most popular votes.

I CAN'T BELIEVE that either of the two nominees would refuse such an honorable and needed compact. Without it the most divisive and unbearable strains could be put on the nation at a time when support for the President and reconciliation will be the foremost needs.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Richard Nixon have already said they are very receptive to this idea. Governor Rockefeller and Senator McCarthy would almost certainly take the same view if either were nominated.

The originator of this pre-election compact is Prof. Gary Orfield of the University of Virginia, who expounded it in an article in the Washington Post. It has since been taken up and improved by Rep. Charles Goodell, R.-N.Y., and Rep. Morris Udall, D.-Ariz. They are acting as a bipartisan team to make the compact binding beyond any doubt.

Besides seeking commitments from the probable nominees, Goodell and Udall aim to put the compact into both party platforms and to get it accepted by the Republican and Democratic candidates for the House.

This would insure that it would be operative if the necessity arises.

THE COMPACT would not absolutely preclude that the outdated machinery of the Electoral College might not produce, as it has before, an electoral majority for the nominee who received fewer popular votes.

But the compact would yield these crucial advantages:

1—It would guarantee that, if no candidate gets an electoral majority and the choice goes to the House of Representatives, where each state has just one vote, the nominee with the largest popular vote will become President. That is its overriding value.

2 — Incidentally, it totally disarms Wallace from being able to exact concessions from either of the major party nominees as the price for his support.

3—It would enable the American people to know on the day after the election who the next President would be and that he would be the man whom most voters wanted. It would dissolve the weeks of painful and dangerous uncertainty that we would otherwise suffer by having the vote in the House delayed and subjected to bickering and bargaining.

BEAR IN MIND that without this arrangement a majority of the congressional delegations from 26 states containing only 25 per cent of the total population can decide who will be President.

If there are congressional candidates seeking election this November who are unwilling to pledge themselves to choose as the next President, if they have to do so, the candidate with the highest popular vote, then they should say so — and let the voters decide whether to elect them.

Russian Aid To India Puts Pinch On Pakistan

By LEMMY PINNA

KARACHI (UPI)—Even at a glance, Pakistan's 1968-69 budget displays a measured but disquieting reaction to Soviet arms aid to India.

Presented by Finance Minister N.M. Uquaili before the National Assembly, the budget for the next fiscal year projects a net central revenue expenditure of $916 million—56 per cent of which is to be spent on defense.

Uquaili said it was "a matter of profound regret that...the widening of the military imbalance in the sub-continent has necessitated an increase in Pakistan's defense expenditure" by 10 per cent over last year to $514.5 million "to maintain an effective deterrent force."

There seems no immediate danger of Pakistan and India repeating their 1965 clash over Kashmir. But Pakistani officials express misgivings and even chagrin at the Russians average annual growth rate of 6.5 percent for the first three years of its Third Plan despite war and drought. But the economy still is weak.
for contributing to a potential arms race in the region.

PAKISTAN HAS reasons to be dismayed. It did attain an

The gains may be offset by the growing cost of a defense buildup, incited largely by Russia's military aid to India.

This is already evident in next year's budget. The budget is aimed at maintaining and consolidating what Pakistan has already achieved in various sectors, especially agriculture.

But with less than $3 million earmarked as capital outlay for industrial development, Pakistan must try to increase production of its existing industries to promote foreign exchange earnings.

WESTERN economists are not encouraged by the fact that the budget requires $510 million in foreign aid in order to work.

Consortium members have agreed with the World Bank that Pakistan could use external assistance of that amount next year. But no nation has stepped forward with pledges or commitments.

Pakistan anticipates a 14 per cent hike in revenue over last year, mainly by increases in excise, customs and sales tax.

The result is likely to be felt by the common man who must pay more for his needs while enjoying little of the concessions aimed at creating confidence in Pakistan's business community.

A Western diplomatic source said there is little doubt that Pakistan's economic life will continue to be influenced by its reaction to Russian military aid to India.

Red Cross Role In Sailing Program

I was delighted to see your excellent coverage of the Strawberry Cove Yacht Club sailing program for youth in the Independent-Journal on July 23. However, there is some additional information which I would like to call to your readers' attention.

The Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross, as well as others, were quite involved in this program. Instructional materials, an authorized sailing instructor, basic sailing textbooks, and certificates upon successful completion of the course are all provided by the Red Cross. The survival swim test that is a prerequisite to the course is administered by the same organization. Also, the 10-foot Songbird catboat (left foreground in the photo) was loaned by the Marin Red Cross Chapter. . . .

The Marin County Chapter of the Red Cross is anxious to help all yacht clubs or other interested organizations with such programs.

Postal Employees Deserve Gratitude

In view of the widespread criticism of the postal service, it is only fair to note that most of the mail is delivered with dispatch.

For example, an ordinary surface letter mailed in Santa Barbara in the late afternoon of July 22 was in my mail box in suburban Marin County the morning of July 23.

I have had similarly speedy service from the East Coast and overseas, on a regular basis, although air mail.

It is my daily practice to post mail in the evening and have it delivered the next day at any point in Marin and San Francisco counties, not only first but third class.

From my experience with both personal and business mail, the real postal problem is related to the complicated forms if the transaction involves more than a small purchase of stamps and dropping the letter in the slot. The postal regulations, not the postal employees, are probably the basis of deficit financing and the small percentage of delivery errors.

Everybody takes too much for granted. Gratitude would be more in order.

Hospital District Board Appreciative

On behalf of the board of directors of the Marin Hospital District, I want to thank you and Mr. Wat Takeshita for the manner in which the tax to be levied in the next fiscal year by the district was reviewed in the editorial in your issue of Tuesday, July 17.

The editorial was an exceedingly fair evaluation of the factors involved in the consideration of the tax, and a comprehensive comment on the problems which our board faced while deciding whether to levy this tax on the residents of the District.

As you know, we are most reluctant to tax for any aspect of the operation of Marin General Hospital. In the very near future, we will be faced with the problems of expanding our services and facilities to meet the requirements of a growing community, and, again, we hope to explore every method which is available to us in lieu of asking the public for funds.

The Marin General Hospital Foundation, a private, non-profit corporation originally organized by the late A. Crawford Greene, is now attempting to raise funds through private sources. We hope this effort will be so successful that we do not have to ask the voters to approve bonds.

Novato Troop Also Hiked 50 Miles

Regarding an article printed in the I-J Wednesday, July 24, on page 39 entitled "San Rafael Scouts Hike, Earn Badges." In this article Troop 36 claims to be the first to earn the 50 miles hiking award in several years.

This is not correct because Troop 73 of Novato hiked 50 miles last summer from Marin Sierra around Lake Salding, then onto French Lake, up to meadow next to the old Summit City (townsite), and we came out on an off-road by Weber Lake. . . .

By doing this, we earned the 50 miles award and the hiking merit badge.

This summer, Troop 73 is considering another 50-mile hike along an historic trail.

Some Unfunny Funny Business With Duplication Of Studies

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Some funny things happen around the Legislature at times, that is, funny to observers, but actually more than unfunny to the taxpayers who have to foot the bills.

Take the case of the major study of the criminal justice system in California, which was announced by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, recently as a two-year enterprise of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, of which Crown is the chairman.

Crown said the major study was "approved for assignment to the ways and means committee," but not who it was approved by, or how much money is involved in this so-called major study.

AS THE ASSEMBLY Rules Committee has the task of assigning matters of this type for "study" and also the consideration of house resolutions, it was assumed this committee would make the assignment, or had made it, as Crown said.

The resolution was co-authored by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-Newark, who happens to be the chairman of the rules committee. There was also a Republican co-author on the resolution, Assemblyman Carl Britschgi, R-Redwood City.

Resolutions of this type, calling for large expenditure of public funds, are fairly common in the Assembly, and sometimes they actually result in progressive legislation. On the other hand, there are a good many of these special study reports gathering a lot of dust on the shelves of the legislative storage rooms.

Thus, the Gonsalves resolution and Crown's subsequent announcement would not be unusual except for the fact that the Assembly already has a criminal procedures committee, which is headed by W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside. And this committee has been engaged in a major study of the criminal justice system in California for some time.

IT SO HAPPENS that Biddle is a Republican, while Crown and Gonsalves are leading Democrats. It also happens that Biddle as the chairman of the criminal procedures committee, one of the few Republican chairmen, isn't in very good favor at present with some of his Democratic colleagues, primarily because of gun control legislation.

Biddle's committee earlier in the session refused to pass out a gun control bill which was authored by Crown, and later, caused an even stronger measure by Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Santa Barbara, to be amended out of its original form and contain the provisions of another gun control bill authored by Biddle himself.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

There was a traffic accident in Houston, and a man rushed over from the sidewalk to lean over the victim. He was shoved rudely aside, however, by one of those bulky, officious females who obviously had taken a course in first aid. The man stood aside and watched her manhandle the helpless victim for a few moments, then tapped her on the shoulder, and told her, "When you get to the part about calling a doctor, I'm already here."

After testing of a new bourbon-flavored toothpaste, a pre-selected group reported that after six months they had 37 per cent more cavities — and couldn't care less.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

Neighbor is a familiar word that we ought to give some attention to.

Derived from Old English "neah" (nigh or near) and "gebur" (dweller), it refers primarily to a person who lives in proximity to someone else.

But in another sense, neighbor means: "A fellow creature, especially a fellow human being; one that evidences true kindness and charity toward his fellowman."

This last meaning has its roots in the Gospel of St. Luke (chapter 10) in which a lawyer asks Jesus: "Who is my neighbor?" The Lord's reply was the unforgettable story of the Good Samaritan.

According to the philosopher Marshall McLuhan, the world has become a global village. We are all neighbors, every last one of us — whatever our language, race, color, religion or politics.

If we strive to be good neighbors — overcoming hate with love, and fear with the courage to aid the defenseless — our "global village" can be a fairly decent place.

"And Jesus said to him, 'Go and do likewise.'" (Luke 10:37)

Make me aware that I should be a neighbor to the needy, Lord, in an active, not just a passive way.

The Country Parson

"I wish every child could be as smart and as moral as his parents think he is."

Nary A Stray Letter Found When Novato Post Office Moved

Almost every time a post office moves, someone finds an old letter or postcard or two behind a filing cabinet or some other furniture.

This is usually good for a news story, as the letter generally turns out to have been mailed many years ago.

When the Novato post office moved recently, we were waiting to see what would be found in the cracks and crannies of the building. It was crowded, and there was a great opportunity for things to get lost.

That did not materialize. Postmaster Harry Overly said not one stray piece of old mail was found when the old building was emptied of its equipment. That must point out the efficiency of Novato postal employees.

FOR YEARS we have watched the growing pains of school districts in the western portion of Marin County.

The Tomales Elementary District has grown and in the process absorbed the Marshall, Bloomfield and American Valley districts. West Marin has absorbed the Point Reyes School District.

The Tomales High School District tried unsuccessfully to unify with its elementary district once. On the second attempt, it was approved by the voters and will become effective next July 1.

Voters in that high school district took three attempts before they approved a bond issue for a new high school. At the last and successful election, the board promised to purchase a site for a second high school in the southern portion of the district.

With that promise and the growth throughout the rest of the district, some residents of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area are eyeing the possibility of going into the new unified district. This would enable their high school students to avoid having to travel over the dangerous Shoreline Highway.

SO WHEN the board of trustees of the new unified school district was organized, it tackled the problem of a name for the new district.

One name suggested was Marinoma, a combination of Marin and Sonoma counties. This had its merit, because the district lies in both counties.

Another was San Andreas, after the fault which runs through the district. This lacked popular appeal and might even suggest the next earthquake. The district has had enough problems trying to get earthquake-proof buildings.

The name of Twin Bays was also discarded. The district today has Tomales and Bodega bays in it. If it absorbed the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area, it would have three bays.

Tomales, the name of the high school district and one elementary district, was discarded because the district is now much larger than the Tomales area.

The board also considered Coastline, Coastland and Shoreline.

The last won out and it is now officially Shoreline Unified School District.

Maybe the new name itself will help woo Stinson Beach and Bolinas from Tamalpais High School District.

While Reducing Voting Age, Why Should We Stop At 18?

Whenever a politician makes noises he's about to anoint the social body with a general good for its own good, I break into a rash. It's an old reaction — like a recurring malaria or the seven-year itch.

President Johnson's recent proposal to reduce the voting age to include 18-year-olds incapaciated me for two weeks.

NOW THAT'S really asking for trouble! As if rising taxes, inflation, sky-rocketing crime rate, riots in the cities, the Vietnam war and a host of other irritations, major and minor, aren't enough.

18!

If the voting age were to be raised to 25 or even better, 30, you would be tempted to feel there is, after all, a seed of hope — man might somehow muddle through — and perhaps this could yet become the best of all possible worlds.

But 18!

COULD THIS BE what T. S. Eliot meant when he lugubriously asked if this is the way the world would end — with a whimper? A child's whimper? Oh, the ignominy! To be distinguished by future historians as the only government that stumbled and fell over a teething ring.

Because of the naive manner we conduct our intertnational relations, the more senior coutnries of the world look upon our bumbling all-thumbs deportment with carefully constrained tolerance. But this latest manifestation of our political infancy will give rise to open amusement, if not outright guffaws.

18!

The perennial sentimentalists who flourish in this country, aided by a climate which can afford them, yearn for that Perfect Democracy and envision their paradisian millennium coming closer and closer the more universal they make universal sufferage — a notion certainly as noble as the divinity of kings.

But 18!

THE PROPOSAL is certain to be adopted. It is also an idiotic proposal. The adoption of idiotic proposals is one of the miracles of practical politics. Politicians perform these miracles with astonishing frequency, particularly if they imagine their survival in office depends on it, or as in this case, it makes their tenure more secure. The drums will beat, the propaganda machines will grind, then presto — before you know it, our young but full-fledged citizen will be borrowing the family car to exercise his sacred right.

Any politican knows, in his very bones he knows, the more he has to explain his actions and his ideas to an informed audience the more difficult it is for him to be elected to office. And he knows, in his very bones he knows, as the electorate increases, his chances of being embarrassed decrease — a principle of crowd psychology proved daily with distressing regularity.

18!

Sisters of the Suffragettes are the dewey-eyed uplifters of today who voluptuously chant: "If a boy is old enough to carry a gun, he is old enough to vote!" This cheery slogan has the high-flown logic only an 18-year-old mind would accept.

Shall we try for 16?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 30, 1958

Marin residents will vote on whether they want their supervisors elected by district or countywide, the board of freeholders decided.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan was preparing a petition for establishment of a proposed Gallinas Fire District, including Terra Linda, Marinwood, San Rafael and undeveloped contiguous areas.

20 YEARS AGO

July 30, 1948

Mrs. Gertrude Creswell of San Rafael, once a contralto in great demand throughout the Bay Area, performed at Trinity Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, her first solo performance in more than 14 years.

A great need for new employees existed at San Quentin, the State Personnel Board announced.

Aerospace Labor Pacts Approved

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Labor contracts hailed as landmarks in the aerospace industry were approved Sunday by workers at Lockheed Aircraft and McDonnell Douglas Corp. in California.

Union officials said the three year agreements are likely to set the pattern for other major aerospace firms, including North American Aviation and Boeing Co.

Approved by overwhelming votes were a contract between the International Association of Machinists and Lockheed and McDonnell Douglas and an agreement between the United Auto Workers and McDonnell Douglas.

Under terms of the pacts, wages and fringe benefits for McDonnell Douglas workers will go up by about $1.03 an hour over a three-year period.

The Lockheed pact with the machinists union provides for first-year wage increases of 6 per cent which — with special boosts for skilled workers — will mean pay raises of between 30 and 50 cents an hour for most employes.

San Rafael Park Civic Association has Ricardo Ratti as president.

HAFB Awards Two Contracts, Cost $112,205

The awarding of two contracts totaling $112,205 were announced today by the base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base.

O. C. Jones and Sons of Berkeley was given a $109,415 contract to repair the taxiways, and Reliance Enterprises of Santa Rosa was given a $2,790 contract to replace the heating system in the airmen's open mess at Building 642, both at Hamilton.

The procurement office today called for bids for projects at Hamilton and the Mill Valley Air Force Station: reroofing certain houses in the Capehart Housing to be opened at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 19; to survey the primary runway, to be opened at 2 p.m., Aug. 2, both at Hamilton; and to replace the exterior doors in the family housing, to be opened at 3:30 p.m., Aug. 19, at the Mill Valley station.

Giant Discovery

TOKYO (UPI)—A policeman found a five-foot-four-inch-long leech in the gardens of Emperor Hirohito's imperial palace yesterday and said the giant leech would be given to the emperor's youngest son, Prince Hitachi, a student of biology. Such leeches average about 2.5 inches in length.

Six Parked Cars Damaged By Pellets

A vandal armed with a pellet gun has shot out side windows of six parked cars in Ross, Ross Police Chief John F. Harris said yesterday.

The pellet gun attacks were reported Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Harris said. The attacker, he said, apparently fired from a car driving past the parked cars, which were on Bolinas Avenue, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Glenwood Avenue.

Balance Of Trade Showing Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. foreign trade balance ran in the red again in June, the government said yesterday.

It was the third month this year that imports exceeded exports.

The June deficit of $87 million, following trade losses in May and March, made it all the more unlikely that the administration will meet its goal of improving on last year's $4.1 billion surplus in the balance of trade.

LUXURY HOME WITH POOL
An adult home with all the luxury, special features and extras found only in a very few homes. This is not an overly large home, only 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, family room with BBQ pit, living room with large fireplace, luxury kitchen with all the extras and large 2-car garage with plenty of storage. But the real value lies in its quality construction and immaculate condition, almost perfection. The ⅓ acre of level grounds and pool match the condition of the home. We could not estimate the value of its beautifully kept grounds and Oriental garden. The rare exotic plants and trees are irreplaceable. This is one of our finest exclusives. Only $56,950

VA Official Sees Some Shutdowns

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Veterans Affairs Department official says the department may have to close some district offices because of apparent defeat of legislation to raise more funds for the department's program.

H. J. Johnson, director of the Cal-vet program of farm and home loans, said yesterday no decision has been made as to which or how many of the 13 district offices might have to be closed.

The bills would have boosted the limit of Cal-Vet loans from $15,000 to $20,000, extended loans to all veterans of the war in Vietnam and permitted the department to issue revenue bonds to raise more money. The measures were sent to interim study by the Senate Military and Veterans Affairs Committee.

Ford Income Has Major Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. yesterday became the third of the big three automakers to announce major increases in earnings for the first half of the year with a 46 per cent increase.

General Motors and Chrysler Corp. previously announced record first-half profits.

Ford reported profits of $390.5 million, or $3.57 per share of common stock for the period. Sales totaled $7.6 billion.

In the first half of 1967, Ford reported earnings of $267.1 million, or $2.44 a share, on sales of $6 billion.

Andy Warhold Is Released

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Warhol, pop artist and underground film maker, was released from Columbus Hospital yesterday, almost two months after he was shot in his office.

Warhol was wounded June 3 allegedly by Valeria Solanis, 28-year-old actress, who is still in Elmhurst, Queens, Hospital undergoing psychiatric observation.

A London art dealer, Mario Amaya, also was wounded.

HAFB Youth Hurt When Car Overturns

David Neil Mann, 21, of Hamilton Air Force Base escaped with a bruised left arm and cut lips last night when his car overturned and pinned him under it on San Rafael's Lincoln Avenue on-ramp to northbound Highway 101.

The accident, reported by the California Highway Patrol, happened at 11:30 p.m. Mann was reported in good condition today at the base hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Houseflies Are Tough, Prolific Menace To Worldwide Health

VAN DELLEN

Houseflies are tough, prolific and have built-in radar systems. The male of the species does his wooing on the wing and is fond of beer. These interesting tidbits were found in Luther S. West's book, "The Housefly."

According to one French authority, an adult fly lives 30 days. During this time the female lays 75 to 150 eggs every four days.

AT THIS RATE, a female, laying 120 eggs on April 15, theoretically could be responsible for an astronomical number of progeny — 5,598,720,000,000 — by Sept. 10.

Another entomologist calculated that the number of offspring in six months would be sufficient to cover the entire surface of the earth to a height of nearly six feet if all eggs survived. Luckily for us, many dry up or are consumed by other creatures.

The household pest is sturdier than it looks. Its flight muscles account for more than 11 per cent of its total weight, which is a greater ratio than that of birds.

If the insect flew straight and was refueled in flight with sugar, it might wing 100 miles. Its speed is comparable to that of a horse walking at 4.5 miles per hour.

THE FERTILITY of flies makes control difficult. Swatting or trapping the critters is an endless chore. Spraying with insecticides such as DDT helps, but is not the complete answer.

Most authorities agree that the best way is to destroy breeding places. In cities, the manure pile no longer is a factor, but uncovered garbage pails provide excellent substitutes.

Farmers are doing their best to eradicate these pests. They are aware of the sanitary aspects, and in addition know that the weight and milk production of cattle are reduced by these devils.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

ENLARGED HEART

E. H. writes: Is it possible to have an enlarged heart and not be aware of it?

REPLY

Yes, because there is no particular discomfort associated with heart enlargement. If the organ begins to fail, shortness of breath or signs of dropsy may develop. But, even these symptoms are not specific indications of enlargement. Send stamped, welf-addressed envelope for our leaflet on enlarged heart.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

A. F. K. writes: Sporadically, I suffer from colicky pains and diarrhea after eating. My doctor assured me that I am all right, but can this be possible?

REPLY

Yes, but you may need to adjust your diet. Perhaps you are eating something that stimulates the intestine to push things along at too fast and hard a pace.

X-RAY FOLLOW-UP

B. A. writes: What is meant by X-ray changes?

REPLY

The term is used when repeated X-rays denote changes in the appearance of a lesion. This occurs, for example, when a tuberculous area increases or decreases in size. The same can be said of X-rays for arthritis, the size of the heart, and the healing course of a fractured bone.

BOY'S BALD SPOT

Mrs. O. S. writes: Our 7-year-old son has a bare spot on the top of his head where hair refuses to grow. Can anything be done about it?

REPLY

The origins of alopecia vary from ringworm to glandular disorders. The remedy depends upon the cause. If he were my son, I would take him to a good dermatologist.

CYST IN NECK

A reader writes: Can a thyroglossal cyst the size of an egg be removed safely and successfully in an adult?

REPLY

Yes. These cysts are located in the neck near the Adam's apple.

GALL BLADDER

S. S. writes: What are the chances that an infected gall bladder will become cancerous?

REPLY

Less than 3 per cent.

Customs Men Smash Major Drug Ring

NEW YORK (AJ) — The U.S. Customs office here said today it has smashed a major international narcotics smuggling ring with the seizure of five persons and nearly 53 pounds of pure heroin worth an estimated $6 million on the illicit retail market.

The smugglers used a "cleverly devised scheme" whereby one half kilo packages of heroin were secreted aboard U.S. jet liners which flew here and were later bound for interior American airports, according to Stanley R. Spinola, supervising customs agent for the northeastern United States.

The smugglers would attempt to take the heroin from the planes after the aircraft had gone through customs and on to inland cities, he said.

Two Frenchmen, a Chilean and two naturalized U.S. citizens, one a former Argentinian and the other a former Brazilian were seized. Also seized was $50,000 in cash, Spinila said.

The customs men grabbed one man after he tried to reboard a plane which landed at Kennedy Airport Sunday and took three half-kilo packages of heroin from beneath the aircraft's washroom sink, according to Spinola. He had left 21 other half-kilo packages behind because they were wedged too tightly in a towel compartment, he said.

The other men were arrested outside a midtown hotel Sunday when one passed a black suitcase containing 24 half-kilo packages of heroin to the other, Spinola said.

The investigation, which began two months ago, led the customs men to St. Louis and Denver.

PUC Engineer Says Trains Vital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A "definite and substantial demand for rail service" has been demonstrated in California, says a State Public Utilities ommission engineer.

The statement was made yesterday by Lloyd C. Young, PUC associate transportation engineer, at a hearing on Southern Pacific's application to discontinue the San Joaquin Daylight.

Demand for the rail transportation did not drop significantly from 1966 to 1967, he testified.

"These trains provide an important service between Los Angeles, Sacramento and the San Francisco Bay Area through the San Joaquin Valley and Antelope Valley," Young said.

The trains "provide a vital link in the remaining minimum national rail-passenger network," he added.

MARIN CONCERN IN VIETNAM

A children's encyclopedia, a supply of comics and candy and gum, collected in a drive headed by Mrs. Jack C. Potter of 300 Mount Shasta Drive, San Rafael, are presented to Sister Lucy at Queen of Peace Orphanage in Saigon by First Lt. John H. Oswald of the Vietnam Regional Exchange. The collection was the third organized by Mrs. Potter, whose husband serves with the Sixth Army Stock Control Center at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Judge Drops Felony Charges Against Two

Felony charges against two men were dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court — one on grounds of illegal search and the other because of a refusal for a continuance of a preliminary hearing.

Case against Ronald Thomas Faircloth, 24, accused of selling and possessing marijuana, was dismissed by Judge Harold J. Haley after Faircloth contended he was wrongly refused permission to delay his earlier preliminary hearing so a key witness could be subpoenaed.

He said the witness participated in his entrapment by urging that he sell marijuana to a man who later turned out to be an undercover agent for the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

Michael B. Dufficy, attorney for Faircloth, declared the witness represented to Faircloth that the buyer was a heroin addict badly needing marijuana. Just prior to the June 13 preliminary hearing, according to Dufficy, Faircloth was unable to locate the witness to serve the subpoena, and asked the court to delay the hearing.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith denied the continuance, according to Dufficy, and his client was unable to prove entrapment.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas said following Judge Haley's dismissal that his office will refile the charges against Faircloth, of Kentfield, and start prosecution anew.

The case of Jesse Earl Boykin, 19, accused of having marijuana, was dismissed by Judge Haley on grounds that his original arrest was for traffic charges which weren't proven during his preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

Boykin, of Richmond, was halted and arrested by Novato police April 8. Officers said Boykin was wanted in Richmond for $54 in traffic warrants. He was later accused of having marijuana in his possession at that time.

Sirhan Shots Link Doubted

PASADENA (UPI) — Police believe the shots that were fired at a brother of Sirhan B. Sirhan had nothing to do with the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Saidallah B. Sirhan, 36, told police two cars pulled up on both sides of him as he was driving on the Pasadena Freeway last July 3. He said one of the men fired two shots into his car.

Neither of the two .38 caliber bullets injured him.

Members of the Sirhan family have received numerous death threats since Sirhan Sirhan was charged with the Kennedy slaying.

Rescue Rewarded

CHICAGO (AP) — Sidney Bennett, 35, a Negro karate teacher, has received Chicago's Medal of Merit from Mayor Richard J. Daley for his rescue of a news photographer.

Bennett rescued Mel Larson, a photographer for the Chicago Sun-Times who was badly beaten by a gang of youths Thursday night during an outbreak of violence in a Negro neighborhood on the near North Side.

Bennett was presented with the medal and a $250 check in the City Hall ceremony.

Two Cited In Theft Of TV Set

Two Marin City youths were arrested yesterday on suspicion of burglary after three boys said they saw them haul a television set and a leather jacket out of a San Anselmo apartment and place them on the front porch.

Harvey La Pierre, 20, of 49 Cole Drive, was booked into Marin County Jail with bail set at $6,256, and his 15-year-old companion was taken to Juvenile Hall.

La Pierre and his companion allegedly fled after the three boys, ages 12, 13, and 14, saw them at the apartment of Ione M. Bezenek of 1340 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. One boy's mother called the police.

Police said that on their way to the apartment they passed a white cadillac with two youths in it and learned from the boys that the description of the pair in the car matched that of the alleged burglars.

The car was stopped in Larkspur near the Bon Air Shopping Center, where the two were arrested. They were later identified by the boys as the two youths they had seen.

Ex-Leader Exiled

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Former President Janio Quadros has been exiled for four months to Corumba, a remote jungle town in the western part of Brazil for criticizing the government.

Quadros, who was elected president in 1960 by the largest majority in Brazilian history but quit after seven months in office, was barred from political activities after the military overthrew President Joao Goulart in 1964.

FIRED FOR BEING TOO FAT

Don Jones, who was fired yesterday as a Ventura County deputy public defender because of "extreme obesity" told newsmen the 240 pounds on his 5-feet-9 inch frame is due to his wife's talent as a cook and his love of eating. Jones decided not to appeal his firing, but to return to private law practice in Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

Best-seller time is tonight

For every I-J advertiser, an advantage in selling

When you, as an advertiser, purchase space in the I-J, your message gains a TIME ADVANTAGE worth dollars and cents in the till. For as an EVENING NEWSPAPER, the I-J reaches your customer prospects at the PRIME BUYING TIME . . . in the evening, when people have the MOST TIME to read and consider your merchandise and prices.

This EVENING READING TIME is nothing to pass over lightly. This is when buying decisions are made . . . when people are relaxed, receptive, actively in search of advertised values. Contrast this with radio, with morning newspapers, with circulars. In the I-J, readers search the ads, page by page. They WANT TO READ, have TIME to read . . . have time to "talk it over," compare, decide. Even the kids get into the act! Small wonder the I-J is Marin's first choice for advertising . . . by both readers and advertisers.

MORE FOR YOUR STORE

The I-J out-sells all other newspapers in Marin. More daily Marin circulation than the Chronicle and Examiner combined.

Playgrounds Set For Hula Hoop Tournaments

A gross of hula hoops is ready for a tournament to be held on San Rafael's playgrounds Thursday and Friday, according to Ronald Koller of the park and recreation department.

Each of the 11 playgrounds will hold individual championships Thursday, beginning at 1 p.m. Persons may bring their own hula hoops or use the ones provided by the hula hoop manufacturer who is sponsoring the contest.

City-wide championships will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at Albert Field, Koller said.

Boys and girls will compete separately in two divisions: ages, 8 to 10 and over, he said.

The four winners will be eligible for the regional hula hoop championship to be held Aug. 10 at Funston Recreation Center in San Francisco. Winners of that competition will receive $100 savings bonds and an expense-paid trip to the national hula hoop championship at Universal City.

Mother Lode Gold Hunt May Revive

NEVADA CITY (AP) — Long abandoned deposits — possibly containing a billion dollars in gold — may be mined in California's Mother Lode one day, if a federal research project succeeds.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines is spending $800,000 to devise new ways of mining the gold — now locked in the earth because it is too expensive to take it out.

This area was once one of the world's great gold mining centers. But the high cost of mining, and the government-set price of gold, closed the fabled mines.

Today, with the nation's stocks of gold, silver and other precious metals dwindling, the federal government is taking a new look at this area, where there is still plenty of gold underground.

The pilot project is located on a three mile section of channel between Badger Hill and North Columbia, in historic Nevada County, one of the richest mining areas during gold rush days. The gold is in the gravel-filled beds of extinct streams that existed millions of years ago.

Archbishop Backs Pope's Encyclical

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Archbishop Joseph MGucken of San Francisco welcomed Pope Pau's encyclical against birth control as a reaffirmation of the "sacredness of the human person."

"At this time it is premature to interpret in detail what this encyclical will mean in the field of moral theology, ecumenical relationship and pastoral practice," the archbishop said yesterday.

"The general lines indicated, however, point to a reaffirmation of the traditional teachings of the church in favor of and protection for human life, human dignity, and the sacredness of the human person," he added.

TV IN REVIEW

Fall Season To Look Like 'The Old Thing

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If television's weekly series in the new season often look like a regrind of the old movie house days, it won't be by coincidence.

In addition to a network movie every nite of the week, the old staples of westerns, cops-and-robbers shows and provincial comedy will be on wide display, especially for the nonselective viewer.

On CBS-TV, the westerns will be "Gunsmoke," "Lancer" and "Wild, Wild West."

On NBC-TV, there are such oaters as "The Virginian," "Daniel Boone," "The High Chaparral" and "Bonanza."

And on ABC-TV, the horse operas include "The Big Valley," "The Outcasts," "The Guns Of Will Sonnett" and "Here Come The Brides."

COPS-ROBBERS

The cops-and-robbers shows, of which the secret agent programs are merely a variation, line up as follows:

On CBS-TV: "Mission: Impossible," "Mannix" and "Hawaii Five-O."

On NBC-TV: "The Outsider," "Ironside," "Dragnet," "Adam 12" and "The Name Of The Game."

On ABC-TV: "The Avengers," "The Mod Squad," "It Takes A Thief," "N.Y.P.D.," "The Felony Squad," "Judd For The Defense" and "The FBI."

As for provincial comedy, CBS-TV has enough for all three networks: "Mayberry R.F.D.," "The Beverly Hillbillies," the Doris Day Show, "Green Acres," "Blondie," "Gomer Pyle" and "Petticoat Junction."

Considerably below provincial comedy are ABC-TV's "The Newlywed Game" and "The Dating Game," and NBC-TV's "The Mothers-In-Law," all of which defy description among viewers whose spellbinding ability has advanced beyond C-a-t.

BETTER SHOWS

In addition to some of the better movies, the selective viewer of weekly series can choose a number of shows that will probably provide good entertainment on a steady basis.

The better returning series include "Gunsmoke," The Lucille Ball Show, "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," the Smothers Brothers program, the Dean Martin hour, the Jackie Gleason outings, "The Hollywood Palace" and "Mission: Impossible."

Of all these, none is more astounding in its continuing success than "Gunsmoke," which week after weeks turns out sharply-done tales that are often better than most of the high-toned specials done for such series as "CBS Playhouse."

One wonders, in fact, why the networks don't use some common sense and inaugurate a sort of bonus system among their producers—so that the ones who turn out fine teleplays weekly are rewarded with an occasional special.

Alioto Moves To Gain Museums

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has named a six-man board to negotiate a transfer of the local Maritime Museum from state control to the city.

Efforts will be made to persuade the state to turn over the custodianship of not only the Maritime Museum but also the old Haslett Warehouse from the State Parks and Recreation Department to local control, Alioto said yesterday.

What he has in mind, he said, is keeping an outstanding collection of old-time railroad trains in San Francisco, instead of "losing them to Sacramento."

The historic Haslett warehouse would house the trains, he said.

Paddlewheeler To Keep Sailing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Delta Queen, a river steamer that once plied San Francisco Bay and other Northern California waterways, will continue in service on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers until 1970.

Now owned by the Greene Line Steamers Inc., the paddlewheeler was recently exempted from federal safety regulations for two years.

The two-year extension was made to give Greene Lines adequate time to build a similar vessel. The company is considering a $4 million boat made of fiberglass instead of wood as the 40-year-old Delta Queen is.

The Delta Queen is based at Cincinnati on the Ohio River and has made several trips to New Orleans.

Van Brocklin Calling Shots For All-Star Gridders

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Norm Van Brocklin isn't called the Dutchman for nothing. He calls the shots and makes his own decisions.

As a result, when Van Brocklin takes his College All-Stars up against the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night, not a single member of the 50-man squad will be suffering from anything as much as a hangnail.

Throughout the previous years, coaches have attacked the task of putting a team together in three weeks with work, work and more work. Contact and scrimmages used to be the byword.

Not so under the Dutchman. From the very outset it was apparent the Stars would not be involved in numerous scrimmages.

In the last several years, the All-Stars would pack up the week before the game and journey to Rensselaer, Ind., to scrimmage the Chicago Bears.

Van Brocklin ruled out the scrimmage, explaining he was preparing his team to meet the Packers and nothing else was important.

In the past, the All-Stars have held their final full-scale scrimmage on the Monday before the game. Yesterday, the Dutchman put them through a limited contact session and announced "that concludes the rough work. The rest of time will be spent in review."

The Dutchman then really capped it all by calling off the usual light workout which always was held in Soldier Field two nights before the game to give the players a feel of things.

Van Brocklin's reasoning: "It is of no benefit to the players."

Van Brocklin, who starred for the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles before coaching the Minnesota Vikings, recently announced he will call every play in the game from the bench.

"We can pinpoint our attack a lot better by sending in the plays," he said. "It will take the mental pressure off the quarterbacks. After all, I know the Packers much better than they do."

Van Brocklin has promised a wide-open game with plenty of passing in an effort to get the first All-Star triumph over the professional champions since the 20-17 victory over Green Bay in 1963.

Since then, the All-Stars have lost to the Chicago Bears, Cleveland Browns and have been blanked by the Packers the last two seasons.

The professionals lead the series 23-9 with two tie games.

It's Unlikely Durocher Would Return To Giants

CHICAGO—In October, 1965, Leo Durocher was given a three-year contract to manage the Cubs. When he got the job, Durocher declared: "The Cubs are not an eighth place team." The Cubs finished 10th in 1966 and Chicago columnists didn't let Durocher off the hook.

The Lip, brash and bellicose, colorful and controversial in his sometimes stormy baseball career, has been actually retiring and reticent this season. It is almost as though he were contemplating a peaceful and graceful retirement at the end of this season.

Of course, if a new contract were not forthcoming it would be an involuntary retirement. And it is not likely that Horace Stoneham would once again entrust his beloved Giants to Durocher if William Wrigley doesn't renew Durocher's contract with the Cubs.

Personalities Shouldn't Interfere

Stoneham, notwithstanding the fact Durocher and the Giants won pennants in 1951 and 1954, fired Durocher in 1955. Stoneham, notwithstanding the fact Alvin Dark and the Giants won a pennant in 1962, fired Dark in 1964.

Personalities should never interfere with the success or failure of a ball club. But in the relationships of Stoneham and Durocher, Stoneham and Dark, the personality clashes were like crashing cymbals.

Herman Franks and Stoneham get along in harmonious fashion. But the best they could do together couldn't match the unharmonious results of the Stoneham-Durocher and Stoneham-Dark eras. It's a puzzlement.

Do They Thrive On Discord?

Maybe the Giants thrive on discord. When Franks took over in 1965 the Giants supposedly were split in three racial groups and Franks declared: "To win the team must play together, not like the three outfits reporters have been writing about."

Franks is proud of the fact that no longer is there any talk about the Giants being split into three groups, that he maneuvered the team into one happy unit. The only thing wrong with that type of managing is that happiness led to second place complacency.

John McGraw was the greatest of all Giant managers and he never permitted his teams the self-indulgent luxury of complacency. McGraw was always needling the greatest of his performers to become perfect.

They're Thinking Of Pensions

Today the goal of perfection in baseball is like a dreamy gossamer cobweb for most players. And there are no managers in baseball today who try to stimulate players in achieving the unattainable goal.

Consequently, the majority of baseball players try to stay in the big time for five, 10 or more years to fatten their pension guarantees.

Few players ever realize the supreme enjoyment of victory as an end in and to itself.

And that goes also for club owners, most important to baseball with their gum or oil millions, who miss the day-in-day-out challenge because they only are interested in one thing: "Did we win the pennant?"

Perry Hurls Masterpiece As Durocher Cries 'Foul'

CHICAGO (AP) — Gaylord Perry really hasn't enough hair on his head to lubricate.

But he had to prove himself greaseless yesterday when he pitched the San Francisco Giants to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs with a sparkling two-hitter.

TIE SCORE

With the score tied 1-1 and Ernie Banks ready to lead off the Cubs' half of the second inning, manager Leo Durocher strode over to plate umpire Ed Vargo and made some gestulations.

Vargo went to the mound to speak with Perry. Herman Franks, the Giants' skipper, and catcher Bob Barton rushed out to join them.

"Vargo took my cap off, looked inside it and rubbed the back of my neck," Perry said afterwards. "That's the second time this has happened this season. Umpire Augie Donatelli did it in Philadelphia.

"Vargo must have been satisfied I wasn't doing anything because I put my cap back on and the game continued."

That Durocher could think Perry was getting something from under his cap to put on the ball caused Franks to explode.

"What do you think about it?" he snapped at a newsman in the dressing room. "How many games have you seen out here? You know what I mean, don't you? It takes a lot of guts for Durocher to send the umpire out to take off Perry's cap when Leo has a guy like Phil Regan who throws the same kind of pitch."

9-9 RECORD

The victory was only Perry's third in the last two months in a 9-9 record. He also tossed a two-hitter against St. Louis on May 28 in a game called after eight innings because of rain.

Perry struck out only one batter and walked one in yesterday's performance. He was backed with a three-run sixth inning as Willie Mays, Jesus Alou and Hal Lanier were the run producers.

The Cubs spoiled his shutout in the first when Don Kessinger led off with a triple and scored on Billy Williams' sacrifice fly.

77 PITCHES

"I was really keeping the ball down," said Perry. "I had a 3 and 1 count on only one batter. That was Ron Santo in the fourth and I walked him. I threw only 77 pitches and all were sliders and fast balls except one. It was a curve. Kessinger hit a fast slider. . ."

The only other hit off Perry also was by Kessinger, a bloop single to short center in the sixth.

San Anselmo Team Wins Softball Tourney Title

Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo captured the Tri-County District Softball Tournament title by winning a 2-1, eight-inning thriller over the Sebastopol Merchants in Santa Rosa last night.

The Treemen thus posted a perfect 4-0 tourney record and will represent Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties in the North Pacific State Tournament beginning Thursday.

By winning the 13-team, double-elimination affair, the Treemen equalled a feat they accomplished in 1965 when Sohner became the first Marin team in 17 years to receive a bid to the state tourney.

The once-beaten Merchants, needing a pair of wins last night to grab the title, scored their lone run off Sohner hurler Chuck Tyson in the third inning on a pair of singles and a sacrifice.

With Tyson blanking Sebastopol over the final five innings on one hit, the Treemen stuck for a run in the fifth and then tallied the big one in the bottom of the eighth when Ron McCamish singled home Dan George.

Nolan Wilson's single and Gary Swarm's double accounted for Sohner's first tally.

Free-Wheeling Basketball Night

It was a free-wheeling night in the Drake Adult Basketball League as a couple of sky-high scores were posted yesterday.

San Francisco Eye and Ear dumped the Old Soldiers, 88-69 and A & E Garage ripped Ghilotti Brothers, 90-74. In a relatively calmer game, the Olympic Club of Marin dumped Drake Market, 75-54.

Bob Phelan, former Lowell High standout and John Johnson topped Eye and Ear with 26 points each while former College of Marin star Terry Overlid had 19 points for the Old Soldiers. Dave Lee whipped in 30 points for A & E with help from Mike Corson's 23 markers. Steve-Bryan was high for Ghilotti Brothers with 29 points.

Tom Unterman with 17 topped Olympic Club while John Howard had the same total for Drake Market.

Cut from the Prospector squad yesterday were barefoot kicker Dick Kenny, and Chuck Kolb, another kicker, running back Nate LeBlanc, linebacker Mike Dratcher, defensive tackle Bill House, defensive backs Tony Jackson and Bernie Rivers and end Clarence Spencer.

Two Runaways In Rec Softball

A one-run game and two runaways highlighted action in the San Rafael Recreation Department's 16-inch Lob Ball Division of the Adult Softball League at Albert Field yesterday.

Cal's Steak House and Cliff's Chevron took care of the runaways, Cal's whipping Wright's Richfield, 6-1, behind Roy Wolford's two doubles, and Cliff's blanking the San Rafael Jaycees, 10-0, as John Reichard hurled a two-hitter, retiring 18 straight batters in the process.

In the close affair, the Harding Gophers nicked Fairchild, 6-5, nearly blowing a 6-2 lead. John Torens had a homer for the winners.

Unlucky 13 Catches Up With Odom

OAKLAND (AP) — The numbers game finally caught up with pitcher John Odom of the Oakland Athletics although he doesn't think so.

Odom, the only player in the American League who wears No. 13 on his uniform, gave up 13 hits and struck out 13 batters before losing in 13 innings to the Chicago White Sox last night, 7-2.

FIVE RUNS

The White Sox got five runs off Odom and relief pitcher Diego Segui in the top of the 13th to crack open the tie game.

"That's the best game I have pitched all year," Odom said. "Sure, I would have liked to win it but there will be some games this season when I won't pitch this well and I'll win. Things even out."

The 13th hit off Odom was a triple against the right field fence by Chicago first baseman Tom McCraw scoring the winning run.

McCraw made it 4-2 when A's second baseman John Donaldson threw wildly to the plate on the relay. A walk and Tommy Davis' triple off Segui made it 5-2, Tim Cullen doubled and pitcher Wilbur Wood brought in two runs with a single.

TIRING

"I could tell Odom was getting tired," said McCraw, "His pitches had lost their zip. He was throwing a sinking fastball early in the game but the one he threw me in the 13th was high."

Shortstop Luis Aparicio of the White Sox agreed with McCraw that Odom got tired. "He didn't have the same stuff later in the game than he did at first," Aparicio said.

Aparicio wasn't bothered by Odom even when he had his best stuff. Aparicio collected four hits, including a triple, driving in the first two Chicago runs and scoring the winning run.

Manager Bob Kennedy of Oakland had decided that McCraw would be the last batter that Odom would face.

15 STRANDED

"I hoped Odom would pitch around McCraw—not give him anything good to hit," Kennedy said. "A guy can't pitch a better game than Odom did. We should have won it for him."

The A's left 15 men on base. They were unable to move runners into scoring position with sacrifice bunts.

"We must be the worst bunters in baseball," Kennedy moaned.

HOW HE DID IT—A happy George Culver of the Cincinnati Reds tells a hometown radio audience how he threw a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies, for the National League's first no-hit job. The Phils scored on two errors in the second as the Reds won, 6-1. (AP Wirephoto)

No-Hit Reaction: A Nice, Big Cry

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — George Culver's Cincinnati Red teammates weren't surprised that he pitched a no-hitter last night against the Philadelphia Phillies. (Game story on page 30.)

What surprised them was the reaction of the 25-year-old righthander who is known in the dugout as "a flake."

Culver sat down at his dressing cubicle after his 6-1 victory over the Phillies and cried! It was the last emotion expected of a guy who once did two days of "time" in a Venezuelan jail, is a "mean" golfer and once aspired to be a sports writer.

"It's always good to win," said Culver. "But winning a no-hitter is just great."

Culver revealed that he had been sick all day because of pain in a toe on his right foot and had a shot of novocaine to ease the pain before the game.

"I decided I needed the shot," he said, "when I tried to put on my shoe before the game and couldn't."

Culver, acquired by the Reds in a trade with the Cleveland Indians last November, pitched in 53 games for the Indians last season but 52 of them were relief appearances. He got his chance as a starter for the Reds because so many of Manager Dave Bristol's starters have had arm trouble.

The 6-foot, 2-inch, 185-pound righthander has given up his ambition to be a sports writer but says he may still write a book. He's known as a good golfer—a "flaky sort of a guy"—and never has explained why he was arrested while playing winter ball in the Venezuelan League.

"Let's just say I was in the wrong place at the right time," he quipped. "It's easy to get arrested in that country."

Hannum Takes Stand In Rick Barry Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alex Hannum, the former National Basketball Association coach who hopes to have former NBA star Rick Barry playing for him in Oakland this season, testified yesterday that a free agent can jump the NBA.

Hannum, who left the Philadelphia 76ers to join the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association, was a defense witness in the Superior Court trial on the San Francisco Warriors' suit to force Barry to play for them another season.

Barry was the NBA's leading scorer in 1966-67, his second season with the Warriors, and then sat out last season in compliance with a court order after he signed a three-year, $225,000 contract with the Oaks.

Hannum said he had never heard of an NBA player playing out his option.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy, Hannum said, had publicly declared that no NBA player could play without signing a contract.

"If you want to lock up a player more than one year, you sign him to a multi-year contract," said Hannum.

The Oaks contend Barry was a free agent because he had not signed with the Warriors when he joined the Oaks.

Barry had testified that it was his understanding that the NBA option clause only applied to players joining other NBA teams.

Hannum testified that any NBA player who fails to come to contract terms goes on a suspended list. If they are put on waivers, he said, they do not become free agents.

He said no other NBA team can talk to the player without first clearing with the owning team.

A $40,000 Trip For Olympic Torch

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first Olympic flame to travel from Greece to the new world is to be lighted in Olimpia Aug. 23 to start a month and a half journey to Mexico City's Olympic Stadium.

On Oct. 12, Enriqueta Basilio, Mexico's best female runner and a member of this country's Olympic team, will trot into the stadium holding the symbolic flame aloft to open the Games of the 19th Olympiad.

In between those two points the flame will travel by runner, by ship and even by swimmer as Mexico's emphasis on its desire for peace and friendship with all peoples.

Only twice before have the Olympic Games been held in the Western Hemisphere—both times in the United States—and in each case the Olympic flame was ignited in the stadium rather than being brought from the birthplace of international athletic competition.

The cost to Mexico of the torch's journey has been conservatively estimated at $40,000. The actual cost will be higher but the expenses in Europe are to be borne by the National Olympic Committees of Greece, Italy and Spain.

Once the torch is lighted at the spot where the first recorded games were held in 776 B.C. it will start a journey over the same route taken by Christopher Columbus when he discovered the new world and, later, by Spanish Conquistador Hernon Cortes.

One of the most unique parts of the journey will be across Veracruz Harbor on the eastern coast of Mexico. Seventeen young Mexicans will swim across the harbor with one hand while holding the torch aloft with the other.

The Mexicans have even designed a pair of special boats with underwater cradles to protect each young man on his 50-meter swim in the shark infested water.

All runners, from Olimpia to Olympic Stadium, will be dressed in identical white uniforms. The uniform has a green band across the chest in which is depicted a white dove of peace.

At the waist is a red band with the "Mexico 68" slogan of the Games. On the left leg of the shorts each runner will wear a four-by-four inch flag, the only national identification, on the uniform.

From Olimpia the torch goes through the Greek cities of Pyrogos, Amalias, Patras, Aigion, Xilokastron, Kiaton, Corinh, Megara and Elevis before arriving at the Parthenon Aug. 24.

The next day it goes from Athens to the port of Pireo where it is to be put aboard a Greek naval ship destined for the Italian port of Genoa—the birth place of Columbus.

In Genoa Aug. 27, there will be a ceremony in the house where Columbus was born. On Aug. 28, the flame will be put aboard the Italian sailing ship Amerigo Vespucci—the same ship which carried the torch from Athens to Syracuse before the 1960 Games in Rome—destined for the Spanish port of Barcelona.

Boccabella Slugs Four Home Runs

On paper, it looked like a miserable week for ex-Cubbie John Boccabella, now playing for the Chicago Cubs' Tacoma, Wash., club.

Boccabella, of San Anselmo, only had five hits in 26 at bats in his most recent week, for an anemic .192 average, but look again. Four of the hits were homers good for six runs batted in. He also scored six runs to up his season totals to 15 runs scored, 13 runs batted in and seven homers.

Young Ken Johnson of Larkspur, the New York Yankees' second pick in the recent school boy and college draft hit a dry spell of huge proportions in his last week at Johnson City in the Appalachian Rookie League. He got only one hit in 17 at bats as his average dropped to .207.

Nick Willard of Novato had a great week with a .375 clip for the Northwest A Dodgers. That upped his average for the season to .302 with 29 hits in 96 at bats. He's also driven in 17 runs.

Bill Lee of Terra Linda didn't get much work on the mound in his most recent week for the Waterloo, Iowa entry in the Midwest A week. He hurled only two innings for the Boston Red Sox farm team, allowing two hits and striking out two. His earned run average is 2.57.

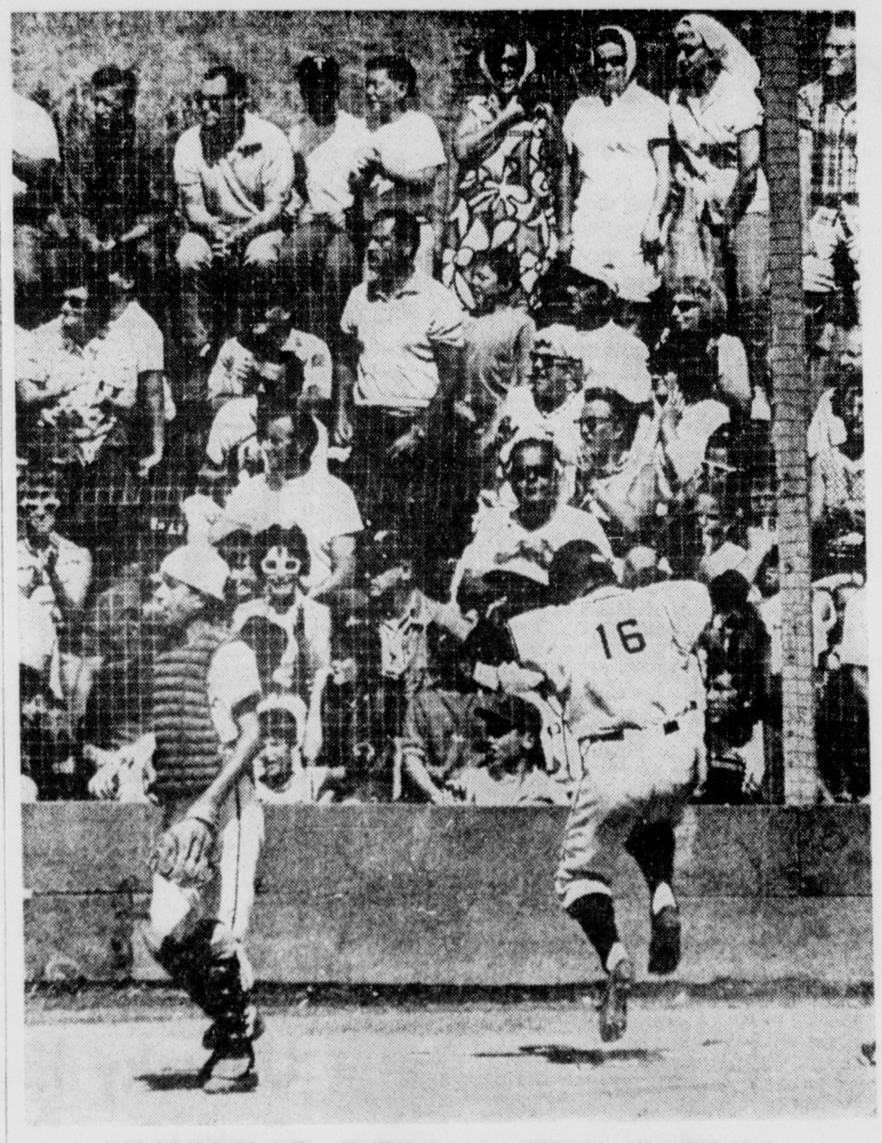
San Rafael Swimmers 5th

Jo Hislop and Leslie Bryans paced the San Rafael Swim Club to a fifth-place finish in the star-packed Seven-Counties League Championship Swim Meet last Saturday and Sunday.

Jo grabbed a first in the 100 back with a 1:07.0 time, breaking a two-year meet record of 1:07.5 while adding a second and a third in the girls 13-14 division to miss the high point trophy by a point.

Leslie, also in the 13-14 group, had a first in the 100 breast, breaking another two-year mark in 1:13.5, also adding a third and a sixth.

Tami McDuffie captured a fourth, fifth and sixth in the girls 11-12 group. Kim Fox had a third in 11-12. Scott Hislop had a fourth in 10-under boys while Wendy Peterman had a fifth in girls 15-17. Sixth places were garnered by Clint McDuffie (13-14), Lucy Suttles (13-14) and Joey Morehouse (15-17).



JUMPING BOY WITH A RUN

Scott Kaplan of Twin Cities Little League does a jumping jig at home-plate after scoring his team's first run against Gallinas Valley in the district elimination final at Novato Sunday. The fans show mixed emotions. Twin Cities won, 4-2, and will host the section playoff Thursday through Saturday. The Marin entry plays Lafayette Thursday at 6 p.m. while Petaluma takes on Sacramento Friday at 6 p.m. Finals will be Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Net Tourney Favorites Advance

The first day of the Marin Junior Hardcourt Tournament at Mill Valley Tennis Club, was a long one.

Small wonder with more than 200 youngsters starting off in the five-day tourney. Early action was none too exciting as all the ranked seeds advanced, as expected.

The only serious threat to a seeded player came in Girls 12 singles when third ranked Cindy Douglas barely defeated Lori James 9-7 in the first set. She came back with a 6-3 performance in the second to win the match.

Klamath Action Will Improve; Salmon Are Being Cooperative

STEVENS

Seven waters in the central coastal region are—or will be—stocked with catchable size trout by the Department of Fish and Game. The waters so scheduled are, by counties: San Mateo—Pescadero Creek. Santa Cruz—Loch Lomond Reservoir, Corralitos Creek and the San Lorenzo River. Monterey — Big Sur River and the Carmel River. San Luis Obispo—Lower Nacimiento River. The schedule could be changed without notice if planting conditions become unsuitable.

JIM RHOADS of Happy Camp on the upper Klamath River sends his first report of the season. He states: "The Klamath producing a few salmon and summer-run steelhead in this area. Action is very slow at present but could change for the better suddenly."

Jim also advises for up-to-date information on Salmon at Ishi Pishi Falls, call Fort Jones, Siskiyou County. Ask operator for the Falls Cafe, and it will get you the true status of conditions in that area.

A new road surface below Happy Camp down to Rogers Creek will be of interest to many sportsmen.

APPARENTLY THE schools of salmon are cooperating nicely with the sport fishing fleet. For example here is the score by boats headquartering at Caruso's at Sausalito: The Sunrise — 29 salmon to 17 pounds; Lucky Lady, 7 limits to 22 pounds; Silver Spray, 9 to 21 pounds; Salmon Queen had 18 nice ones; Mariam, 15 salmon to 20 pounds; Hurricane boated 17 to 18 pounds; Ma-ru 17 to 20 pounds; Sea Wolf 18 to 20 pounds; Corrine 26 to 22 pounds; Sea Sport, 18 to 25 pounds; Jennie C, 25 salmon to 22 pounds; Sunfish unloaded 25 salmon to 22 pounds, and the Zatta had 23 to 15 pounds.

Several private cruisers berthed at Caruso's Sausalito headquarters did fairly well on striped bass, trolling the Racoon Straits and in the general area of Yellow Bluff.

HAL MILLER, sikpper of the party boat, Phyl-Ray, advises that he will desert fishing in favor of hunting. Captain Hal will again charter the Mallard Creek Hunting camp. I understand Hal has chartered this camp for the last seven years with the Conrad Brothers, with very successful hunts for elk, deer, and bear.

In his party of 10 there is room for 5 additional hunters at the present. The hunts include all facilities including cabins, meals and guides with horses. Fee for seven days is $300. The non-resident big game and hunting and fishing license is $100, plus $3 for elk tags, $2 for deer tags. No tags needed for bear.

Novato Nine Needs Funds To Help Tournament Costs

Novato's champion American Legion baseball team goes into the District Legion Tourney at Woodland beginning tomorrow, bringing hefty statistics and needing donations.

The team still needs donations to make the trip to Woodland, located 75 miles North of Novato. For information, contact coach Gene Ferretti at 567 Midway Blvd., in Novato.

Novato is slated to begin play at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow, putting its impressive credentials on display.

The whole team batted away with abandon enroute to winning the area title. Dave Edson of Terra Linda paced the team with a .433 average, followed by Tom Thomas at .391, John Sjbolom at .365, Barry Berringer at .313 and Gary Trono at .301. As a team, Novato batted .307 while opposition batters hit only .189.

Three pitchers did most of the damage for Novato. Russ Dillon was 2-1 with an 0.32 earned average. Steve McNally was 6-1 and 1.15, and Mike Timmel was 5-1 and 1.61. Timmel led the strikeout corps with 54.

Edson and Sjoblom were the top runs batted in men with 16 and 17 respectiveiy.

Baseball Showdown On Tap Tomorrow

Annex Motors and Toby's Truckers, leading the Marin County Joe DiMaggio League with 9-3 records, clash in a key game tomorrow evening on the Marin Catholic High School diamond.

The Kentfield game, next-to-last contest for both teams, will start at 6 p.m.

Reds' George Culver Hurls No-Hitter Against Phillies

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now George Culver knows how to act.

"I really got nervous in the seventh," the Cincinnati pitcher said last night.

"I'd never even come close to pitching a no-hitter before in my life. I didn't know how to act."

Two innings later, the former relief specialist had a 6-1, no-hit victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and he was acting completely normal under the circumstances.

"Actually after the game I was crying," he said. "Winning is important, but doing it by pitching a no-hitter, that's the greatest."

Culver's gem gave Cincinnati a sweep of the twi-night doubleheader—the Reds winning the first game 7-6.

St. Louis beat the New York Mets 5-1, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 3-2, Houston blanked Los Angeles 2-0 and San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 4-1 in other National League action.

Culver, who worked out of the Cleveland bullpen last year and was obtained by the Reds in a winter trade, ran his record to 9-9 with his third complete game of the season.

The Phillies put seven men on bases—five on walks, one on an error and one on a catcher's interference—against the young right-hander who struck out three.

Philadelphia's run was unearned and came in the second. Richie Allen reached first when third baseman Tony Perez booted his grounder, and continued to second when shortstop Woody Woodward picked up the loose ball and threw wildly. Allen advanced to third on a ground out and scored on Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly.

The Reds took the opener when Pete Rose tripled in the ninth and scored on Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly. Rose then saved the game by throwing out Allen, who tried to score from second base on John Callison's two-out single.

Philadelphia had tied the game at 6-6 in the eighth on a solo homer by Allen and Don Lock's two-run shot.

St. Louis' Ray Washburn boosted his record to 10-3 with his seventh straight victory, a seven-hit, eight strikeout, no-walk performance against the Mets. He hasn't lost since May 21.

Lou Brock, who scored once and drove in two runs, broke a 1-1 tie for the Cardinals in the eighth was a sacrifice fly.

Pittsburgh earned its victory over Atlanta on a homer by Bill Mazeroski, Donn Clendenon's sacrifice fly and a single by Roberto Clemente.

Mike Cuellar drove in the first run with a squeeze bunt and pitched a four-hitter in Houston's victory over Los Angeles. First baseman Ken Boyer of Los Angeles was taken to a hospital for X rays after being involved in a collision at first with Houston's Bob Watson.

Tigers Downed, But Gain Ground

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tracking the Tiger is fast becoming a monumental misadventure for the Baltimore and Cleveland-based safaris.

The New York Yankees caught Detroit napping last night and roughed up the front-running Tigers 7-2 behind unsung right-handers Bob Verbanic and Lindy McDaniel.

But instead of losing ground to the pursuing Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians, the Tigers stumbled forward another half step toward their first pennant in 23 years.

The Boston Red Sox took the edge off Detroit's setback by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Baltimore 3-2, in 10 innings, and 8-3 while last place Washington upended Cleveland 4-2. As a result, the Orioles and Indians each trail the Tigers by seven games and the Red Sox are 8½ lengths back.

Elsewhere California edged Minnesota 2-1, ending a five-game losing string, and the Chicago White Sox struck for five runs in the 13th inning and a 7-2 victory over Oakland.

Verbanic pitched out of several early jams at Detroit before giving way to McDaniel in the sixth and squared his pitching mark at 4-4. Two of his victories have been at the Tigers' expense.

McDaniel, picked up in a recent inter-league deal with San Francisco, allowed only one hit—Norm Cash's solo homer in the seventh—over the final 3 2-3 innings.

Joe Pepitone's two-run single in the fifth broke a 1-1 tie and the Yanks pulled away on two-run homers by Jake Gibbs and Roy White. Loser Joe Sparma was tagged for five runs and nine hits before departing in the sixth.

Successive 10th inning doubles by Jose Tartabull and Mike Andrews snapped a 2-2 deadlock in the afternoon game at Boston, giving Ray Culp a hard-earned pitching verdict over Baltimore reliever Moe Drabowsky. Culp, 7-4, struck out 12 in going the distance.

Andrews and Joe Joy homered in the nightcap and Carl Yastrzemski slammed three doubles as the Red Sox breezed behind rejuvenated Juan Pizarro. The vetern southpaw, 3-2, survived bases-empty homers by Boog Powell, Paul Blair and Dave Johnson.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, July 30, the 212th day of 1968 with 154 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1916, German saboteurs blew up a munitions dump at Black Tom Island, just outside Jersey City, causing an estimated $22-million damage.

In 1937, the American Federation of Radio Artists was organized as a unit of the American Federation of Labor.

In 1942, President Roosevelt signed a bill creating the WAVES in the Navy.

In 1967, news from behind the "Bamboo Curtain" told of mass purges of the Red China army.

A thought for the day: Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "Sin has many tools, but a lie is the handle which fits them all."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bidding Methods Of Italians Enable Team To Win Tourney

The Italian bridge team won the world championship again this year, chiefly because of their magnificent bidding methods. An additional factor in their victory was the superhuman defensive skill of Camillo Pabis-Ticci and Massimo D'Alelio.

SAME CONTRACT

The contract was four spades at both tables of the match. In the first room an American player held theWest cards and made the "normal" opening lead of the singleton nine of hearts through dummy's bid suit.

This lead gave no trouble to the Italian declarer. He won with the king of hearts and led three rounds of trumps. The defenders could get only one trump, one diamond and one club.

BIDDING, PLAY

The bidding and play in the second room was displayed on a huge electric board so that several hundred bridge fans could watch every move. Since the players were faraway, behind closed doors, the audience could discuss the contract; and they agreed that the outcome would be the same as in the first room.

JOLTS AUDIENCE

The audience had reckoned without Pabis-Ticci, who seems to have extrasensory perception in defensive play. Pabis-Ticci, a Florentine engineer, jolted the audience by opening the ace of clubs.

The rest of the defense was easy. Pabis-Ticci continued with a low club, got back with the ace of diamonds and led another club for D'Alelio to ruff.

The United States had almost evened the score before this hand, but with only three hands left in the 80-hand match the American players knew that time had run out. A perceptive Italian defense had taken the world championship out of the American reach.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ J 8 4
♦ - A 10 7 6 3
♣ - A 9 8 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. The hand is too strong for a raise to two spades, but not strong enough for a jump to three spades.In order to show the in-between strength of this hand, bid your own suit first and raise the spades at your next turn.

Captured City Nearly Emptied

KONEYTRA, Israeli-held Syria (AP) — The military government reports this war-scarred city, almost completely abandoned by Syrians as Israeli troops stormed the Golan Heights in June 1967, may be a ghost town in a few months.

The 150 remaining inhabitants of the original 20,000 now want to move to Syria because they despair of an early peace settlement in the Mdddle East.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investments In Insurance Should Be For Long Term

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1964 I put $10,000 into Insurance Securities Trust Fund. Now after 4 years my investment shows a $3,500 paper loss. My broker says not to worry because insurance stocks have been in a slump. would you advise me to take this loss and get into something else? — B. N.

A. I'm inclined to go along with your broker and not take the big loss confronting you at the present time. There is a distinctly better investment attitude developing toward insurance stocks in general and I believe you should wait to see how this change may possibly affect your fund's portfolio.

I also note that some corporate problems have developed in the management company which distributes your fund's shares. Earnings declined sharply for 9 months ended in March. It is not uncommon for such problems to temporarily affect share values.

However, I have repeatedly stated in the column that any investment in the insurance industry should be undertaken as a long-term commitment, perhaps up to 10 years, to get the most out of it. The entire industry has been in the doldrums for about four years. Reports have recently come to me that redemptions are going down and sales are going up in three leading insurance funds. So I hope that your investment will likewise take a turn for the better and I would exercise the patience to hold it for another year if you can afford to do so.

Q. My investment club holds a number of shares of Columbia Broadcasting System. What dividends were paid during 1967 and when? — H. L.

A. A quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share was paid on these dates during 1967: March 10, June 9, Sept. 8 and Dec. 8. A 2 per cent stock dividend was distributed Dec. 20. The corresponding ex-dividend dates — in case these might concern you — were Feb. 20, May 23, Aug. 21 and Nov. 20 for both the final cash payment and stock distribution.

Lockheed Net Dips; Sales Up

BURBANK (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Cop., has reported earnings of $24.7 million, or $2.20 a share, for the six months ended June 30. This compares with $27.6 million and $2.47 a share a year ago.

Sales were $1.03 billion, compared with $993 million a year ago.

The net was affected by high research and development costs on the firm's new L1011 jet transport and other long range programs, which totaled $45 million for the period, double the figure a year ago.

Foremost-McKesson Has Record Quarter

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Foremost-McKesson, Inc., has reported record earnings of $6,031,000 for the first quarter ended June 30.

Earnings amounted to 46 cents per average common share outstanding and compares with 44 cents per share for the same quarter last year, calculated on a comparable basis.

PROPOSE HOTEL AT AIRPORT

Construction is expected to start on this $2 million, five-story Royal Inn Hotel at the San Francisco International Airport by October. The 115-room hostelry will feature two exterior glass elevators, a cocktail lounge, conference room, swimming pools and a subsidiary Jolly King Restaurant. Royal Inns of America, headquartered in San Diego, operates in five western states.

Market Closes Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed areas of selective strength as it closed mixed today.

Steels and motors were early gainers amid hopes that the steel strike would be averted.

The market managed to nudge into plus territory at mid-day but backed away from this slight gain in the afternoon. Optimism on the chance of averting a steel strike was linked with the rise of steels and autos.

The sharp rise in Ford's earnings led to expectations of a good financial showing by Chrysler. Ford and Chrysler were each ahead by more than a point. General Motors added a fraction.

Republic Steel gained more than a point, U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin fractions.

IBM snapped back 7 points, Xerox about 3, Polaroid 2, Control Data 3.

Gains of about a point were scored by Merck, Pfizer, Swift and Goodrich. Du Pont and American Smelting were up about 2 each.

Occidental Petroleum paced the list on activity, advancing more than point.

Studebaker-Worthington traded on a block of 111,500 shares, off 1⅛ at 49½, putting it near the top in activity. It virtually erased the loss in later dealings.

Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

New Commercial Building Planned For Waterfront At Sausalito

A new 25,000-square-foot commercial building to be constructed on Bridgeway, Sausalito, next to the E. D. Bullard Co., should be completed by the first of the year and already has two firms committed to occupancy.

Owners of the property, a group of Marin investors, call themselves the Marin Freeholders. The building is being designed by W. B. Clausen, who lives in San Rafael but has his offices in Oakland. No contractor has yet been selected.

The two firms who have leased space through Robert H. Greene, Real Estate, the project agent, are North Sails, Northern California Divison, now located in the Mold Loft Building at Marinship (12,500 square feet) and Graphic Arts of Marin, Inc. on Gate 5 Road (8,000 square feet).

This leaves 4,500 square feet still to be leased. The site will be landscaped and have offstreet parking.

ANOTHER SAUSALITO FIRM, California Leather Products Co., headed by Gordon Olney, has purchased a 12,000-square-foot lot on Industrial Way, Larkspur, from Romac Pacific Co. and Martinez Electric Co. This is the former Robinson Trailer Sales property east of Highway 101 in Greenbrae. Greene also handled this transaction.

Olney intends to put up a 5,000-square-foot building, which should be completed by the middle of October.

Romac and Martinez also intend to construct a 15,000-square-foot Soule Steel building, on which Greene will handle the leasing. And in here, too, Roy Padgett, who operates the Phillips 66 Service on the east service road, has leased from Greene 4,000 square feet on Industrial Way, adjoining the station for a body shop.

NEWLY OPENED at 528 Irwin Street, San Rafael is G-B Service Center, specializing primarily in the servicing of Jaguar cars.

Owner Michael Brodie of Tamalpais Valley formerly operated a service station — and he is also a racing driver. He races the Lotus. With him is Victor Dalby, formerly with E. F. Sweeney British Cars. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Saturdays by appointment only.

LATEST WORD on the opening of Disco in the former Value World building in Larkspur is a date of Oct. Another new Disco has recently been opened in Modesto and one is scheduled for Reno before the end of October.

James Marlais, now managing the San Rafael store, will have his responsibilities expanded to include management of the Larkspur operation.

Incidentally I am informed that the correct name for the department store chain is or soon will be the single word — Disco. Originally MAC Department Store, it then became MAC-Disco and then Disco Wonderworld, due to several mergers. Wonderworld is now being phased out.

There have been some rumors that Lucky Stores was planning to have the food service at the Disco Larkspur complex. Not so. I am assured there will be no food operation here.

BEN BADARACCO of San Anselmo is retiring from Wells Fargo Bank after 41 years of service. He was with the San Anselmo office for 30 years and recently has been headquartered at the San Francisco main office.

INSURANCE: B. M. (Buck) Snyder of Marinwood has been appointed assistant manager of Mutual of New York's Santa Rosa agency and will be responsible for manpower recruiting and training programs. He has specialized in life and health insurance. . . . The Robert Maney agency in San Rafael led all 109 offices of Mutual Benefit Life in both percentage increase and volume increase for the first half of 1968, making it a record period for the office.
